tor is requested to undeceive the public, with the wheat taken from Creaves, as mentioned in cle of Wednesday. The fact being, as stated on the wheat was in bags, secreted in the coach-house Johnson, of Fort-Anne, the gates fastened by an strong padlock, which was broken by the banered off the wheat on cars, and not fastened tones to the door, as insinuated—neither was there gation into the circumstances at a Petty Sessions hkeale—the investigation took place in Askenton.

DEATHS.
This morning, at Castletown, the seat of her uncle, Arabella, fourth daughter of Bolton Waller, Esq. Collector of this Port. Lovely, artless, and unassuming, she engaged by the suavity of her manners and the benevolence of her heart, at once the affection and esteem of all who were admitted to the charms of her society. Providence, however, jealously careful of such rare perfection, did not permit her to remain long in a world where vice is habitual and calamity inherent, and she yielded her spotless spirit in all its native purity—the unsullied emblem of the Divinity who created her, and the Heaven that forms her home. This excellent Lady endured a painful decline, during which a mind strongly fortified in sentiments of piety and virtue, smoothed the hours of her approach to a better world.
At Mallow, of consumption, in her twentieth year, to the inexpressible grief of her afflicted family and friends, Angelina Sarah, eldest daughter of the late Richard George Esq. Barrister at Law, and late Chief Magistrate of this County.
In Dublin, a few days ago, Bartholomew Warburton, Esq. of Birr-view, in the King's County, father of Major Warburton.
In Dublin, Thomas John Barlow Champion, Esq.
At Airmount, Co. Waterford, aged 75 years, Edmund Mulcahy, Esq. late of Corabella, Co. Tipperary.
At Loughburke, Benjamin Lucas, Esq.
In Tipperary, aged 85 years, John Power, Esq. one of the oldest Magistrates in Ireland.
Of consumption, in the 38th year of his age, at Fermoy, on his road to Dublin, on Friday, the 7th inst. Charles John Herbert, Esq. of Muckross, County Kerry, nephew to his Grace the Duke of Dorset.
In Dublin, Mrs. Fleming, wife of William Fleming, Esq. Attorney at Law.
At Trabolgan, Co. Cork, Colonel Roche.
In Waterford, Jane, daughter of the late Mr. J. Keith, formerly merchant in St. John's, Newfoundland.
At Patrick's-hill, Cork, Mrs. Chester, relict of the late Richard Chester, Esq. of Ballymagooly, Co. Cork.
Letitia, wife of the Rev. John Gavan, of Baymount, near Clontarf.
At Sandymount, near Dublin, Mrs. Harrison, wife of Captain Harrison, formerly of the Devonshire Regiment.
In Ennis, Mr. Pat. O'Brien, clothier.
In Dublin, Harriet, the wife of John Deering, Esq. Barrister at Law.
