BAD FAITH OF COALITION GOVERNMENT Kills Settlement Proposals IRISH LEADERS STATEMENT Explanation by Mr Lloyd George SPEECH BY MR DILLON THE PRIME MINISTER'S REPLY

MR REDMOND'S SPEECH Mr Redmond said he had not risen for the purpose of attacking anyone. He intended simply to make a dispassionate statement of the facts, and let them speak for themselves.

MR LLOYD GEORGE Mr Lloyd George said Mr Redmond had stated a very difficult case with characteristic moderation, and with one or two exceptions, he did not wish to vary his statement of facts.

SIR EDWARD CARBON'S SPEECH Sir Edward Carson presented to the House a narrative of the facts as he knew them. The first thing to remember, he said, was that the Home Rule Act was passed in 1902.

MR LLOYD GEORGE (continued) Mr Lloyd George said that the Home Rule Act was passed in 1902, and that the Government had been in power since then. He said that the Government had been in power since then, and that the Government had been in power since then.

TERRIER BRAND. CORK YEAST CO., LTD. There is in undiminished numbers it might make a difference, say between a Liberal and a Unionist, and between a Nationalist and a Unionist, and between a Nationalist and a Unionist.

MR. DILLON'S SPEECH Mr Dillon said the Irish Nationalist members had never originated these negotiations for a settlement. It was the Government who had proposed them.

THE PREMIER'S REPLY Mr Asquith said there were some things Mr Dillon had said which were very interesting. He said that the Government had been in power since then, and that the Government had been in power since then.

MR LLOYD GEORGE (continued) Mr Lloyd George said that the Home Rule Act was passed in 1902, and that the Government had been in power since then. He said that the Government had been in power since then, and that the Government had been in power since then.

ABBEEVEALE ITEMS (FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.) Missing Farmer An exhaustive search for Mr Michael Ahern, the popular young farmer of Omeauha, Abbeveale, has so far failed to clear up the mystery.

A Persistent Nuisance It would appear as if nothing else than a prosecution under the Public Health Act will compel the Abbeveale County Council to clear up the streets of having the dust swept off the streets.

Dipping of Sheep Prosecution at Charleville At Charleville Petty Sessions, Sergeant Percival prosecuted Eugene Healey for having at the time of dipping sheep, used a dip which was not approved by the Board.

LOCAL SUCCESSSES AT MATRICULATION EXAMINATION The following local students have passed successfully the Matriculation Examination in connection with the National University of Ireland.

MR LLOYD GEORGE (continued) Mr Lloyd George said that the Home Rule Act was passed in 1902, and that the Government had been in power since then. He said that the Government had been in power since then, and that the Government had been in power since then.
