NEW CHURCH TO OUR LADY OF LOURDES,

LOWER GLOUCESTER STREET, DUBLIN.

A TEMPORARY edifice has been erected
on the site secured for the New Church,
which is so badly needed in this locality.

It is already over-roofed, and the Baroque has crossed a deep split of devotion to Our Lady of Lourdes, with most beneficial results amongst the people.

The temporary structure must serve until the funds necessary to build a permanent Church to Our Lady of Lourdes are collected.

The district is the most densely populated and poorest in the city, and therefore little pecuniary aid can be expected from it.

The Administrator strongly appeals to the generosity of the Catholics of Dublin and Ireland to assist him in carrying out the good work.

The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass will be offered
each week for Benefactors.

Funeral of Mrs. O'Brien

Our Irish correspondents writes—The result of the will of Mrs. O'Brien, wife of Mr. Donald O'Brien, M.C.C. Tennesse, was conveyed from her residence to Marsh O'Sherry, Esq., Kerry, who, under the instruction of the will,
assides every manifestation of sorrow on
part of the people of the country side.
The funeral cortege was the largest ever seen in these parts, and gave proof of the respect entertained for her by her husband. Eight young men mourn the loss of a loving mother.
The clergy who officiated at the graveside were—
Rev. Stephen Dunne, P.P. Longhill, and Rev. P. M'Keown, C.C. Longhill. The shallowers were—Denis O'Brien, M.C.C. (late lord); Mrs. O'Connor (mother), Miss O'Connell (sister), John O'Connell (brother), and Thomas O'Brien (father-in-law). It would be impossible even to give the names of the relatives.
The general attendance included the magistrates, doctors, representative men, farmers,
shopkeepers, etc. of the parishes of Bally-
hill, Longhill, Glin, Tarrish, and Newry parishes.

CARRIGANHOLT COLLEGE

AN INTERESTING IMPRESSION

A morning of unclouded splendour. An air scene as an Irish eye accustomed to appreciate every beauty in an Irish landscape ever beheld. A magnificent sheet of water ten miles long and five broad meeting in the arms of two counties, and shimmering under the blaze of a glorious summer sun.

In Tran n'g. I actually revelled in its beauty. I have gazed on scenes more picturesque and more sublime in every corner of this fascinating old land of ours; but there was a quiet subtle charm about the view presented to my gaze that morning which was wanting elsewhere.

and memories and legends twine round it as thickly as the ivy which covers the old abbey from base to summit. It was there that the Glacé Dragoon were first recruited, and with that event was kindled a flame whose light covered many a European battle-field with glory which was reflected in the flashing blades of the men of Corcaisín.

the garrison of the Glacé, taking a humble but a wished part in the fight for Nationality, but which was not in a fort which part of the British garrison had but shortly before evacuated for the College building had been used until recently as a Garrison Station.

NOVEL DINNER PARTY

"RAW PIGEON EATEN"

Here is a story that comes to us from America. In an American regiment quartered in Kentucky were a few "red-headed" Irish recruits who were always in a scrape.

Worse still, the owner saw him in the very act. But displaying his anger he admitted his mistake, and promising to make good, he changed his mind.

There was a veritable babel of voices, but the confusion was quite welcome, for everybody spoke Irish, which flowed in a magnificent stream through the wide-open door and windows of the dining room.

laughter and light-hearted chat of a band of cyclists. Young men and young women were there on the morning before. These, I was told, were the students who stayed in the village about a mile away.

THE "SNIPER'S" PART IN THE WAR

IRELAND AND FRANCE THE OLD RELATIONS

Some Past Memories. The old relations between Ireland and France are interesting to read at the present time. We have the "History of the Irish Brigade in the Service of France," and many histories, articles, and historical volumes in which the story is told of the relations between the Gael and their Gallic neighbours from the departure of seven regiments of Irish soldiers in March, 1691, in exchange for trained French troops sent over under Count Lauzun to fight for James.

The Treaty of Limerick. A half million Irish soldiers died in the service of France. There are many accounts, notably M. de Lamoignon's "Histoire de la France," which give a translation of the original French text of the Treaty of Limerick, which was signed on October 3, 1691, at the village of Limerick.

memories of the past. The Irish people to strong sympathy for France in 1670. Large numbers of Irish soldiers were sent to France to fight in the French wars. The French Government had sanctioned the formation at Cherbourg of the "Foreign Battalion," which was composed of Irishmen.

arrival of the Irish Ambulance at Havre. "All the men under arms," says the report, "wearing in their button-holes the green ribbon which is the Irish national emblem." M. de Lamoignon states that the vessel conveying the ambulance was left Dublin in 1792.

The French Captivity. Arrived in Ireland in August, 1871. They had been in France for some time, and had been captured by the British in the Battle of Orléans.
