DNESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 15. Postal Officials' Demand

to the nature and amount of the work they called on to perform Post Office officials amongst the worst paid bodies in the shile service. Their duties are important, diese and responsible, and for their proper widiment require more than an average comlestion of intelligence, good health, energy, d integrity of character. Surely it is but brious justice that the emoluments attaching a position necessitating the possession of such qualities should be not only on a living int a liberal scale. The conditions of employ. now prevailing in the postal and teleraph service are, It is true, much better than were some years ago, but they are still or far from being ideal. The present ries, for instance, might well wled as inadequate in ordinary times, and if that is the case—and it anguestionably tis easy to see they are wholly insufficient eder the olroumstances created by the war. he prices of food commodities have gone up on avarage by something like 70 per cent since the outbreak of bostilities and from that unimiable fact it is clear that the remuneration that was barely enough to make ends meet belore August, 1914, is entirely too small to fulfil the same purpose now. The mere statement of the position of affairs as it thus exists shows that the Post Office employée have a strong and unanswerable claim to the increase for which they are at present agitating. Last July the Postal servants made the not extravaget demand of 5s a week additional for these whose wages did not exceed 40s, 4s for those whose wages exceeded 40s but did no exceed 60s, and 8s for those whose wages exmoded 60s. The Postmaster General, in reply decided to concede " Is for all men, 1s 6d to those under 18, and 6d a week to women over is," The offer of such a miserable increase to meet the enormous advance in prices was nothing short of an insult to the intelligence of the deserving body of workers to whom it was made. The Postal officials are determined to seure justice in this matter, and in their endeavour to secure what fair play suggests to be their rights they can, we are sure, cent on the sympathy and assistance of the people in general. A public meeting in support of their demand will be held in the Town Hall, Ilmerick, on to-morrow evening, commencing st7.15, under the auspices of the Association of Iriah Post Office Clerks. The Mayor is to preside, and we trust the gathering of citizens will be toth large and representative. LIMERICK AND MUNITIONS SIR MAURICE LEVY'S VISIT MEETING OF LOCAL COM-MITTEE

CONFERENCE IN CHAMBER OF COM. MITTER THIS AFTERNOON A representative meeting of the Limerick War Munitions Committee was held in the Chamber of Commerce on Monday night last to make arrangements with a view to putting before Sir Maurice Levy, M P. Commissioner to the Ministry of Munttions, who arrived in Limerick to-day, the facilities offered by the city for extending the output of munitions and other war material. Mr Archibald Murray, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presided, and the attendance, which was large, included representatives of the manufacturers and merchants, as well as the trades and labour bodies. A general discussion on the subject of munitions point d to the indifference with which the city was treated in connection with orders for war material. It was shown that the Limerick War Munitions Committee was the first of the kind formed in this country after the establishment of the Ministry of Munitious. In July, 1915, representatives from the Ministry visited Limerick, and consulted with the Committee on the queselly. In the absence of a material witness the tion, when it was suggested that a national after eighteen months little had been done to meet the wishes of the Committee, while other centres in Ireland had benefited considerably through the output of munitions and other war

ELOQUENT AND INTEREST-ING ADDRESS

References to the War The Lord Bishop, Most Rev Dr O'Dwyer, preided this afternoon at the annual meeting of he St Vincent de Paul's District Nursing Association held in St Munchin's College, and as usual on such occasions, delivered an eloquent, interesting and impressive address.

Letters of apology for non attendance were read from Mr J P Power and Mr and Mrs

HIS LORDSHIP'S ADDRESS In opening the proceedings his Lordship said—My first duty, and it is a very pleasant one, is to thank you for your attendance in answer to my invitation, and to assure you that I am deeply touched by the interest which this year, as always since its establishment, you have taken in this Association. For myself I do not think that I have missed a single one of our annual meetings (hear, hear). I regard the Association in a sense as my own, and although I have not been able to do much for the peor of the city during my time as Bis hop, yet I hope that the comfort and substantial nelp which our nurses have given them in their times of slokness will be something to my credit (hear, hear). As the chairmen at business meetings say, I shall take our annual report as read. It has the great merit of being very brief, but in its few menteners it being done in a large scale 708 separate cases have been nursed in their own homes, and to these 12,328 visits have been paid. These figures are very large, but it is only those who have followed the operations of our purses to individual cases pan form any estimate of the amount of good and genuine Christian charity which it means to the poor in their helplessness and need. It is More prisoners have been taken. The numbers not more physical and material help to them, it is not mere philantrophy, but there is in it. as its motive and its inspiration, the word and the promise of Him who said, "As often as you did it to the least of these little ones, you > things are not quite so rosey. For the first time we find ourselves in debt, although a good many people think that that is

> did it to Me." Looking at the balance sheet not an unhealthy condition for a charitable Association. But I think to a great extent we may blame ourselves for any shortage of funds under which we labour. Year after year we have been accustomed to boast of the smallness of the pecuniary resources with which we are doing so much good until our friends began to think that we were such superior beings as to altogether above such mate-considerations. Our little dethis year will come as corrective of that notion and will get us, I am sure, all the money we want. It is not much for we have this great advantage that our good nuns not only do the greater part of our nursing bear the heaviest part of its financial burden. But for the Sisters of Mercy this work could never have been carried out, and for myself I may say -and I am sure I may speak for you also -we appreciate their great generosity and are most grateful to them We have also to thank the Little Company of Mary, who give us the services of a nun every day to visit our patients in St John's parish, and thus enable us to enhance the whole city in this most beneficient system. Then we have a grand committee, small in numbers, but of the highest quality, and good workers every one of them. Our hon secretary, Miss Doyle, is simply perfect, and our bon treasurer, Lady Nash, keeps our money carefully, and our accounts accurately, and to these ladies much of our success is due. This winter will, I fear, be exceptionally trying on the poor. As we all know and at length, asked the L G Board to reconsider feel the cost of living has risen enormously. For what are called the wealthfer classes it means something, but it is bearable, and it is no harm that they abould understand that war is something more than flag-waving and boasting. But the real burden, the real the cruel misery of this war is being borne by the poor people, and as it goes on its suffering will grow more intense, and extend to larger classes of the community. And for what f Well that question brings me dangerously near to polities, and all I will say to that the good which will result from the war will have to be something anperhuman if it compensates for a tithe of the majeory that it is causing. All through our Holy Father the Pope has set us an example which we should follow, and has faught us that to think and speak of this awful calamity not in the terms of human passion, of prite, or ambition, but as a punishment for the sine of the world in which

washould turn to God in prayer and panance

A respectable young man from Knuls named HON. SECRETARY'S REPORT Miss May Doyle, Hon Sec, submitted the following report for the period from October. 1915, to the end of October, 1916 ; - Once more our Committee comes before the public with a view to an account of its work, and of saking for the means which we confidently hope will be forthcoming as hitherto, to carry it amongst the sick poor in their own homes. Owing to The evidence for the prosecution was given great pressure of work elsowhere the districts have had to be visited for nearly three months by three instead of four nurses, and notwithstanding that fact hatotal number of visits paid are 12,328 and the number of separate cases 703. Of these cases the doctors have called on the services of the nurses in 364, considerably more than half the total. The conditions under which the work of the nurses is done are of the most difficult; the houses and rooms often being almost without bedding, or cooking utensils. At this time of stress when those who can, are giving so much, and depriving themselves of many things in the cause of charity, it is not pathaps reasonable to sak increased help for our special work; however, we shall be happy if the fund collected should be anfilelent for our absolute needs. But, if our means allowed it, there are many ways in which we might give assistance to some deserving poor families, who are unable to procure for themselves the necessary share in this work and the constant interest District-Inspector M'Gettrick, who appeared and patronage of his Lordship the Bishop, it

Mesers J O'Sullivan and R Byrne, Limerick Association of Post Office Clerks, appeared before the Board and requested the attendance of the members to the public meeting to be held in the Town Hall on to morrow evening in support of the claims of Post Office workers for Market an adequate war bonus. The members were unanimous in extending ing, and support fully the claims of the Post Office workers. Mr Donnellan said they should try to compel the Postal authorities to alter the present state of affairs existing in Limerick that people going to the Post Office in the middle of the day and in the evening had to walk away as the doors were closed. People then had to go into pu! lichouses looking for stamps. The L G Board wrote sanctioning payment of £1 10s a week to Mr Hayes for acting as temporary relieving officer for Officer P Lane.

CORTEGE OF SEVEN MOTORS

Interment of Danny Maher The funeral of Danny Maher, the famous jeckey, which took place at 2 30 on Saturday in the Catholic quarter of the l'addington Cometery, London, was beautiful in its simplicity. Mass had already been held at St James's, Spanish-place, and the only service held in the cemetery was the brief sentences committing the body to the grave. It was a motor funeral. The cortege consisted of seven cars, the two first conveying masses of flowers. The third bore the completely covered with flowers By the side of it walked the Earl of Rosebery Blackwell, the Nemarket trainer, and J H Martin, Maher's compatriot (American) jockey. The widow followed in the next car. Wreaths were sent from all over the country, the done nating characteristic being the bond between the Turf and the stage. Nearly all the jockeys. Mr T O'Brien's Shanbally and practically all the leading representatives Mr C Swords' Hippodamia of the theatre, sent wreaths, notable among them being emblems from Lord Rosebery and

Question of Analysis of Whiskey OBJECTION TO LICENCE RENEWAL.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.) At Brures Petty Sessions, before Mesars W F Power (in the chair), J M C Bennett, D I Browning, and Major Roche, in the adjourned case of Sergeant Queenan, Inspector under Food and Drugs Act, against James Hannan, publican, Kilmore, complainant mentioned that Sir Charles Cameron sertifical that the sample of whiskey sent him for analysis was 30 degrees under proof.

Mr P KO'Donnell, solicitor, Limerick, for the defendant said at the previous hearing he stated he would object to the certificate of Sir Charles Cameron unless the certificate of his analyst was admitted. Since then the sorgeant Sorgeant Queenan said he did not now obeet. He understood the County Council did not want to bring down Sir Charles Cameron. Mr (l'Donnell said his esse was that they sent their sample to Mr O'Mahoner, Apalysi, Cork, who certified that It was 34 degrees stronger than the legal requirement. Of course Sir Charles Cameron was not Infallible. He referred to a case where the same analysts differed and the third sample was sent to Somerant House, which agreed with Mr O'Mahoney and disagreed with Sir Charles

In the case in which the police objected to the renowal of a licence to Mr Hannan for one of his public houses at Kilmore, Mr O'Doncoll sald the two licensed bouces were within a couple of yards of each other and the renewal of the licence for one was opposed on the grounds that it was not used for 12 months. His case was that it was used, though not as much as the main house, and that it was used for the purpose of keeping the licence alive and that there was a bone file intention to re-open it has general way. Then when the committee's accounts came before the auditor of the Local Government Board he surcharged the amount so paid. The Local Government Board subsequently approved of the surcharge, but withdrew their opposition to payment for the one year, inform ing the committee, however, that if the supersimulation allowance was continued in future the amount would be surcharged. The Hilgarion was initiated by a civil bill at the Limerick Assiges for the recovery of $50 for the second year's alleged pressen. Lord Justice Roman, the going Julies of Assist, stated a case for the Divisional Court, where the Lord Chief Justice and Mr Justice Dodd held that Mr Brophy had a legal, just and moral claim to the superannuation. Mc Justice Gibson dissented. The main points for decision was whether the committee was justified in granting the gratuity on receiving the sanction of the Department of Technical Instruction. The £50 was, it was argued, given to Armagh and said it would be a terrible thing Mr Brophy as a consideration for his tetlring from the head-mastership for the purpose of reorganising the Technical Schools. A ascond point which was the subject of argument was whether the Department of Technical Instruction had power to grant a penaton to any member of its staff other than a person in the Civil Service, Mr Brophy not baing so qualified.

ALLEGED BOGUS WILL CONTESTED IN COURT

Case From County Clare

On Monday in the Niel Prins Court Dublin, before M. Justice Pim and a city special jury, the hearing concluded of the action of Flanagan v Fahey and others. The plaintiff, Timothy Flanagan, farmer, of Glanquin, Kilnobov, Co Clare, sought to establish the will dated 14th July, 1904, of Patrick Flanagan, of Carrane, Corofin. The defendants are Kathleen M P Fahoy, spinster, Deerpark, Quin; Henry Flan-agan, of Shessive, Corofin, and Margaret Flan-agan, spinster, of Carnane, Corofin, all in the County Clare. In the will, which was contested Patrick Flanagan bequeathed his farms of land at Ballybarraban, Rnau ; Cabiramqua, Corofin, and at Gurtoraun, with the entire stock and quit, a nephew of the testator, and brother of the plaintiff. He appointed the plaintiff as executor, and after ordering his funeral expenses to be paid, as well as 25 for Masses, he directed that the will should remain in the private possession of the executor until after his (the testator's) death. The defendants, who are pext of kin of the deceased, Margaret Flanagan being a sister, opposed the will, on the usual statutory grounds, and on the ground that the will which the plaintiff sought to propound had not been executed by he deceased, who died in Corofin Workhouse Infirmary in January, 1908, Evidence was given that the will was duly executed by deceased; that on the 14th July, 1904, he diotated its terms to Patrick Planagan, brother of plaintiff, and that it was duly witnessed and excessed. For the defence, witnesses atated that shortly before he died efforts were made to pet l'atrick Flanagan to make a will while he was in the infiniary, and that after hindeath a herd, who was examined, stated an induce. ment was offered to blur to wishess a will pureach other around the place, and while nothing porting to be that of deceased. Popular Doctor's Death

There is deep and widespread mourning at the announcement of the death of Dr John Francis O'Ryan, at his residence, Henry-street Tipperary, after a rather brief illness. Deceased, who in his young days travelled much, was a life-long Nationalist and a staunch supporter and intimate friend of the Irish Leader. He was a prominent figure at all Nationalst gatherlugs and functions in the South Riding of the county, and his interest in the political and general welfare of the country was keen, active and practical to the highest degree. He coospled posicions of weight and importance of the local public boards and for three year presided with honour and dignity over the deliberations of the County Council. In the Smith-Barry fight in Tipperary he made bis sacrifices, having lost considerable property is connection with the campaign, and he also suffered a term of imprisonment. In his professional capacity he enjoyed an extensive practice, and nothing could exceed his kindness to the poor, by whom his loss will be deeply deplored and long regretted.

KILMALLOCK FLOUR CONTRAG

At the last meeting of the Kilosallock Board of Guardians, Mr Thomas Carroll (Chairmas)

Messrs G Shaw and Sons, St John's Mills, Oork, wrote with reference to the Guardians request that they should remove flour from the workhouse and substitute with some equal 10 sample, and stating that they considered that somewhat of a hardship, taking into consideration the difficulty of getting a sufficient appoint of wheat supply of wheat. They asked to be allowed to send a supply of patent flour of extra quality to work half and half with the supply at the workhouse. That would meen a considerable loss to them, but they were anxious to have the matter settled amicably, and they hoped their offer would be accepted. The two flours mixed would make a much higher grade than the Guardians' standard sample. It was agreed to accept the offer.
