

The following article is copied from the Chercher Courant of March 19. We are happy to communicate the following important intelligence, from the authority of two gentlemen just arrived in this city from Liverpool, who say, that on Sunday last a vessel bound for Falmouth, put into Liverpool (owing to her being chased by several privateers off Ireland) with the agreeable news of a junction having taken place between Sir G. B. Rodney and Sir S. Hood, and of their having had an engagement with the Count de Grasse, over whom they had obtained a decisive victory, by capturing 7 of his first rates, sinking 5 others, and destroying most of the remainder. Such is the confidence placed in the above information at Liverpool, that since its arrival, the ordnance from the different batteries have been at intervals fired, and the account was immediately sent off express for Government.

The above important intelligence is confirmed by Captain Brown of the Duke of Leinster, who arrived here yesterday from Liverpool, who says, that an Officer, charged with dispatches to the Admiralty, containing an account of that agreeable event, arrived there on Sunday last, in a brig from St. Christopher's, in 25 days, who immediately set off in a post chaise for London.

By the Prince Frederick, a Danish vessel, arrived at Cove in six days from Bourdeaux, we learn, that the day before she sailed the Voligeant cutter had entered the Garonne in 21 days from Cape Francois, and brings letters as far down as the 20th of February, at which time the English garrison at St. Christopher had not surrendered to the Marquis de Bouille, but that news of that event was hourly expected at the Cape, as vessels from St. Christopher and St. Eustatia, daily come in. The Voligeant confirms the capture of the English flotilla, from the Leeward Islands by the Spaniards. She also brings advice of the landing of a battalion of the regiment D'Auxerre on the island of Nevis, the inhabitants of which had submitted without resistance.

The Solebay frigate, Capt. Ferris, was lost on the Shallows, off Nevis Point, the 29th of January last, but the crew were all saved.

We hear the Duke of Buccleugh has, we hear, in testimony of his high esteem and veneration for the Volunteer army in this Kingdom, enrolled himself as a private in the Grenadier company of the Dublin regiment.

The following very important and interesting Bill was, on Thursday, March 14, 1782, brought into the British House of Commons by the Attorney General,

"A Bill to enable his Majesty to conclude a peace, or truce with the revolted colonies in North America."

Whereas it is essential to the interests, welfare, and prosperity of Great Britain, and of the Colonies or Plantations of New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, the three lower counties on the Delaware,

At a Meeting of ALL the VOLUNTEER CORPS of the COUNTY and CITY of LIMERICK, 22d MARCH, 1782.
Major CROKER, in the Chair.

The Resolutions and Address of the ULSTER VOLUNTEERS, assembled at DUBOANNOX on the nineteenth Day of February last, being read Paragraph by Paragraph.

Resolved unanimously, That we do most highly approve of those Resolutions and that Address, and that we will Co-operate with the Ulster and other Volunteer Corps of this Kingdom, in every Constitutional Mode of carrying the same into Effect.

Resolved unanimously, That the Members of the House of Commons, are the Representatives of, and derive their Power solely from the People, and that to Act contrary to the General Sense of their Constituents, would be to deny this Position.

Resolved unanimously, That the Assertion, That Power constitutes Right, is repugnant to every principal of Law, Reason and Common Sense.

Resolved unanimously, That nine Delegates from the Corps here represented, (three to be a Quorum,) be and are hereby appointed a Committee, until the next general Meeting, to Act as Occasion shall require, for the Volunteer Corps of this County and City, and communicate with the Ulster Committee and the Delegates from the other Volunteer Corps, and to deliberate with them on the most constitutional, speedy, and effectual Means of carrying our Resolutions into Execution.

A NOTICE

Whereas Edmund Rogers, late of Riddellstown, in the Co. of Tipperary, Gent, did by Article of Intermarriage with Honora Magrath, on the 5th day of February 1781, settle on me Thomas Rogers his eldest son, the Farm and Lands of Gurtram, near Tipperary, together with the Stock thereon, in consideration of a fortune of One Hundred Pounds, secured by the brother of the said Thomas Magrath, and wherein the said Edmund Rogers died on or about the 9th day of April last, leaving his widow Ellinor Rogers, without any issue, who shortly after turned me the said Thomas Rogers and my wife out of my father's house, and so complete her design of stripping me of all means of support, procuring some groundless charge to be made against me, and threw me into Limerick Goal, but when relieved from the same by the next going Judge of Assize, she procured a further charge against me in the Co. of Tipperary, where I was also obliged to attend at the last Assize, but the Grand Jury for said County thought proper not to find any Bill against me, which consequence has given the said Ellinor Rogers an opportunity to carry off said lands of Gurtram, all my Cattle that grazed thereon, and gives out that she will also let or sell my Interest in said Farm. Now I
