

D U B L I N , Sept. 14.

We are sorry to announce to the public, from very respectable authority, that few of Lord Howe's fleet have been separated from him, by the high winds which have prevailed for several days past; but that his Lordship was determined still to pursue his course to Gibraltar.

We are happy to inform the public, that an order yesterday was made by the Privy Council, to encourage a Colony from Geneva to settle in this country. Some most respectable citizens from that oppressed Republic have been soliciting an asylum in this rising land of Liberty, for a number of their inhabitants who give the preference to Ireland, and propose to bring with them the arts and manufactures that have so long rendered that city the envy of Europe, and the continued object of the jealousy of France.

Several soldiers of the garrison, who attended Earl Temple on his arrival, have declared that they heard only of his Excellency's generosity in the papers; not having received the shilling which his Lordship was said to have ordered each man.

We are informed that the Magistrates of the Province of Connaught are determined not to attest any recruits which may be enlisted for the army on the English establishment, or FRENCHES, until the raising of the 20,000 Leagues and Marines, promised by this kingdom, is completed; and it is hoped that the Magistrates of the other parts of this kingdom will follow in spirit an example.

The slaughtering has already begun here with tolerable spirit, notwithstanding the high price with which the market has opened, cows of 4*cwt.* being no less than 16*s.* per cwt. — bullocks of 6*cwt.* at 18*s. 8d.* The prices will, it is hoped be shortly reduced, as no considerable orders are yet arrived.

A letter from Marseilles, dated the 1st of Sept. inst., to a house in this city, mentions the arrival of three Gentlemen from the Coast of Coromandel, charged with intelligence of the most important nature from M. de Suffren, so lets it is said, than the total discomfiture of the British fleet and army in the Peninsula of India, and the greatest preparations making by the combined forces of Holland, France, and Hyder Ally, for a general attack on all the British settlements in Asia — Though we have in general some reason to fear some part of the above very interesting account not entirely void of foundation, yet so sudden a change in our affairs in that part of the world favours too much of the marvellous to deserve implicit belief. The city of Marseilles and all the harbours were illuminated on this occasion the 10th of August.

By letters from Spain, there is great reason to imagine that the combined fleet of Bourbon intends to dispute with that of Britain, the passage into the Gulf of Gibraltar, as their letters advise, that so far from their taking shelter in the ports of Corunna or Cadiz, they are actually cruising on the coast of Portugal as far as Cape S. Vincent.

The Lloyd's List of yesterday's packet advised, the capture of one vessel from the enemy.

To-morrow a Post-Alley day, we hear, will be held at the Tholsel, to consider the propriety of the city's taking some notice, either by resolution, stricture or remonstratory address, of the measure of raising Fencible Regiments.

From the General Meeting at this day, in Dublin, of all Delegates appointed on the Distillery Business, it is expected such prudent, yet spirited determinations will be resolved on, as will be ultimately of the utmost good consequence to the agriculture of the kingdom, and to a general establishment of the exportation of Whiskey. The clause in Mr. Beresford's late act regulating Distillers, that in cases of seizure and of appeal from the Commissioners, a Judge and not a Jury, is finally to determine the property, is such a direct and open violation of all annataure, legal and final settlement of right, that the same a year hence will be abominable in the sight of God, in every man, who wishes to see the laws of his country established only on strict constitutional principles.

A letter from Oporto received in the course of the old and foolish week, by a merchant here, advises, that of forty temporary order, Irish manufactured goods of 500,000*l.* may be imported into the Portuguese ports — upon which

This order is not established by any act of State, and so great and various are the Ministerial parties which are forming, that many men are of opinion the Temple Administration of the Duke of Portland. But during these points of time, Ireland is in a confused and unsafe state of government, and it will be circumspect to act with that still I saw the true and determination, as to whether she has a King or

Signal tower. So threatening is the power of opposition in this kingdom, in their next sessions of Parliament, and so great and various are the Ministerial parties which are forming, that many men are of opinion the Temple Administration of the Duke of Portland. But during these points of time, Ireland is in a confused and unsafe state of government, and it will be circumspect to act with that still I saw the true and determination, as to whether she has a King or

Signal tower. So threatening is the power of opposition in this kingdom, in their next sessions of Parliament, increase the quantity of that commodity, so much, that it is expected there in the course of the month of October, will bring over upwards of 20,000 hogheads of sugar.

A letter from Captain Macbride, of his Majesty's ship Artois, by Thurday's post from Waterford, where he arrived from our bay on the 23d, brought the agreeable news that on his passage he fell in with 12 sail of the Leeward Island fleet, homeward-bound, being the Liverpool division for that port.

A letter from the North mentions, that the freeholders of the county of Armagh are displeased with one of their representatives, that they propose to call a meeting for the purpose of nominating Col. Richardson of Richhill, as a fit person to represent them in the next sessions of Parliament.

On the 18th instant, the sloop Catherine, of Wexford, laden with butter, cheese, bacon, &c. bound from that port to Dublin, was in a hard gale of wind, wrecked on the Dogger Bank, one league from shore and about nine miles from Wexford. Mr. Morwood, Surveyor of Risks, observing the misfortune, bravely left out his barge, and providentially by such immediate assistance, the whole crew and passengers were saved except a child, which was washed out of the mother's arms. Upon the intelligence reaching Wexford, the Volunteer corps of the town, commanded by Colonels Hassell and Jacob, with all expedition repaired to the shore, by whose timely and spirited exertions, by plunging themselves into the water, recovered the whole night to protect the same. Too much praise cannot be given to the Volunteers of Wexford, for distinguishing themselves on this as well as every other occasion, where either humanity or the interest of their country called for their assistance.

On Saturday last, a poor unfortunate wretch, in the 75th year of his age, was executed at Athy in the county of Kildare, pursuant to his sentence at the last assizes for that county: — the crime for which he was executed was sheep-stealing. It is somewhat remarkable, that from the time of his being led from the jail to the moment he was launched into eternity (a space of near three hours) he never spoke a word; and when the hangman was fixing the rope about his neck at the gallows, through some mismanagement he fell from the car, and was severely bruised by the fall, yet the pain (if he had any feeling) never excited the smallest complaint, and he died as seemingly insensible of his punishment, as if he had been totally inanimate. Notwithstanding this wretched being was said to have been an old offender, yet his offence were confined to the stealing of sheep and corn, to which he might have been excited by want, or idle habit, which might have been corrupted by timely attention; still his punishment was as severe as if he had committed murder, or other acts of the blackest dye.

N.B. The Governors, Governesses and Subscribers to the Fever and Contagious Hospital lately instituted near St. John's-gate, in the City of Limerick, are requested to meet at the Rev. Dr. Neare's at New Town Pier, at 12 o'clock on Tuesday the 15th Day of October next, to inspect the past Accounts of the House; to elect a Treasurer, Physician and Surgeon; to appoint a Salary for the two latter, and Wages for the Hoofe-keeper and other Servants; to agree upon the Days for the Annual General Quarterly meetings; to appoint a Standing Committee; and to consider and resolve upon such other matters as shall be judg'd expedient.

N.B. The Governors, Governesses and Subscribers, request the attendance of all others, who think they may furnish any hints which may tend to the promoting one of the most necessary Institutions in this populous City, and which has already proved its vast Utility, by having rescued many Families from the most alarming and impending Dangers to themselves and their Neighbourhoods.

The City Debtors Twenty in Number, most humbly implore the Charity of the humane Inhabitants of this City, as they are in a painful condition.

Died. Last Friday, sincerely regretted by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance, Mrs. Sexton, relict of the late Mr. Edmond Sexton, Merchant.

* ENGLISH BOTLEES and WIN-

DOW GLASS, just arrived from Bristol,

to be Sold on Reasonable Terms by JOHN

UNTHANK.

All Spirited Young Men, who are willing to Enter into the MUNSTER REGIMENT,

commanded by the EARL OF INCHQUIN,

are desired to apply to VERA HUNT, Esq;

Major of said Regiment, who will give them

every Encouragement.

N.B. They are to be Enlisted but for Three Years, and not be removed out of this Kingdom.

— — — — —

At a full Meeting of the LOYAL LIMERICK VOLUNTEERS, holden at the Council Chamber, on the 25th September, 1782.

Major THOMAS BLURNESS in the Chair.

R ESOLVED unanimously, That we conceive the Formation of Fencible Regiments to be contrary to the Legislature, and in the Truly Patriotic concurrence of the Volunteer Army, after the manly and approved Representation of them by Parliament, declaring them to be fully sufficient for the Defence of their Native Land, after granting that generous

Aid of Five Thousand Troops from this Kingdom, for the IMMEDIATE Service of the Empire.

RESOLVED, (with one dissenting voice)

That the raising of such Regiments

tend to distract that Tranquillity, Sec-

Confidence which should henceforth exist between the two Kingdoms, & that the

a measure (so fraught with ill consequences)

as must naturally convey a bad impression

in the Loyalty and Spirit of the people in the Country, & render them less inclined to

aid the French in their

Revolutionary cause.

RESOLVED, (with one dissenting voice)

That the raising of such Regiments

tend to distract that Tranquillity, Sec-

Confidence which should henceforth exist between the two Kingdoms, & that the

a measure (so fraught with ill consequences)

as must naturally convey a bad impression

in the Loyalty and Spirit of the people in

the Country, & render them less inclined to

aid the French in their

Revolutionary cause.

RESOLVED, (with one dissenting voice)

That the raising of such Regiments

tend to distract that Tranquillity, Sec-

Confidence which should henceforth exist between the two Kingdoms, & that the

a measure (so fraught with ill consequences)

as must naturally convey a bad impression

in the Loyalty and Spirit of the people in

the Country, & render them less inclined to

aid the French in their

Revolutionary cause.

RESOLVED, (with one dissenting voice)

That the raising of such Regiments

tend to distract that Tranquillity, Sec-

Confidence which should henceforth exist between the two Kingdoms, & that the

a measure (so fraught with ill consequences)

as must naturally convey a bad impression

in the Loyalty and Spirit of the people in

the Country, & render them less inclined to

aid the French in their

Revolutionary cause.

RESOLVED, (with one dissenting voice)

That the raising of such Regiments

tend to distract that Tranquillity, Sec-

Confidence which should henceforth ex-

ist between the two Kingdoms, & that the

a measure (so fraught with ill consequences)

as must naturally convey a bad impression

in the Loyalty and Spirit of the people in

the Country, & render them less inclined to

aid the French in their

Revolutionary cause.

RESOLVED, (with one dissenting voice)

That the raising of such Regiments

tend to distract that Tranquillity, Sec-

Confidence which should henceforth ex-

ist between the two Kingdoms, & that the

a measure (so fraught with ill consequences)

as must naturally convey a bad impression

in the Loyalty and Spirit of the people in

the Country, & render them less inclined to

aid the French in their

Revolutionary cause.

RESOLVED, (with one dissenting voice)

That the raising of such Regiments

tend to distract that Tranquillity, Sec-

Confidence which should henceforth ex-

ist between the two Kingdoms, & that the

a measure (so fraught with ill consequences)

as must naturally convey a bad impression

in the Loyalty and Spirit of the people in

the Country, & render them less inclined to

aid the French in their

Revolutionary cause.

RESOLVED, (with one dissenting voice)

That the raising of such Regiments

tend to distract that Tranquillity, Sec-

Confidence which should henceforth exist between the two Kingdoms, & that the

a measure (so fraught with ill consequences)

<