

Yesterday their Majesties received letters from Prince William Henry, dated at sea, informing that his Royal Highness is perfectly recovered from the late misfortune of dislocating his shoulder in the port of New York.

Le Glorie French frigate, of 32 guns, which was in company with L'Angle of 40 guns (taken by the Warwick, of 30 guns, Capt. Elphinstone, and others of his Majesty's ship) and escaped, had on board 100000l. ready to obtain those lucrative appointments.

" We had been obliged to suspend the building some of the new ships, for want of timber; but several vessels are now arrived loaded with it, and with masts and cordage. The latter ships are Danes and Swedes, some also are come from Holland."

Extract of a letter from Paris, Oct. 31.

" The last letters from the camp at St. Roche advise, that the siege is not abandoned; the firing and throwing of bombs is continued. We are informed that a new and well concerted plan has been presented to M. de Crillon, for taking the Devil's Tower; it is added, that if this is effectual, the success of the siege will be despaired of. Some marine architects are to be sent with all expedition to Cadiz, to furnish the Spanish ships with copper.

" Mr. Adams, Minister Plenipotentiary from the Congress to the Republic of Holland, arrived here two days ago. He resides with Dr. Franklin. It is reported that the object of his journey is equally important and mysterious."

The following resolution of Congress brought over by the last vessel arrived from America, will clearly shew our readers, how little reason there is for England to expect she will be able to negotiate a separate peace with her revolted colonies:

By the UNITED STATES in CONGRESS assembled, Oct. 4, 1782.

WHEREAS by the article of confederation and perpetual union, the sole and exclusive right of making peace is vested in the United States in Congress assembled; and by the treaty of alliance between his most Christian Majesty and these United States, it is declared, that neither of the contracting parties shall conclude peace nor truce with Great Britain, without the consent of the other; and the Minister Plenipotentiaries of these United States in Europe, are vested with full power and authority, in their behalf, and in concert with their allies, to negotiate and conclude a general peace; nevertheless, it appears, the British court still flatters with the vain hope of prevailing on the States to agree to some terms of dependence on Great Britain, at least to a separate and there is reason to believe, that others may be sent to America to offer of that nature to the United States.

Resolved, unanimously, That Congress are sincerely desirous of an honourable and permanent peace; that as the only means of obtaining it, they will inviolably adhere to the treaty of alliance with his Most Christian Majesty, and conclude neither a separate peace nor truce with Great-Britain; that they will prosecute unlawful combinations. We forbear mentioning their names, and hope the dreadful necessity there is for inflicting such severe punishment, will in future deter journeymen from committing the like offence, which if not prevented must be destructive to every manufacture, and leave us to lament that we have obtained a free trade without being able to partake of its benefits.

The Royal commission, constituting Lord Howe first Lord of the Admiralty, is now preparing, and expected to pass the Great Seal, in the course of the week.

Extract of a letter from Vienna, Oct. 26.

" The Pope hath written, it is said, a letter, not very agreeable, to the Emperor, which will soon be made publick. This letter may throw some light on the real situation of ecclesiastical affairs.

" His Imperial Majesty, who has been greatly indisposed and confined to bed, is now almost perfectly recovered."

It is generally believed that Adm. Pigot has ordered twelve line of battle ships to cruise off Boston, in order to block up Vaudreuil's squadron in that harbour, whilst he proceeds with the remaining part of the fleet to the Leeward Islands.

Several regiments of Prussian cavalry have received orders to be immediately completed, from which it is conjectured that that old March looks with a jealous eye upon the motions of his neighbour the Emperor.

At Paris they boast of the genius, spirit and intrepidity of a marine hero, who, falling at the King's feet, proposed an expedition against some part of the British dominions, which he said he would accomplish, or cheerfully lose his head. This is Mr. Stuart, son of the Chev. St. George, who led the van of the French fleet in Sir S. Hood's affair, and who, though he exemplified an uncommon share of courage in going to windward of the English fleet, found an equal glow of intrepidity thumping the hasty break of Capt. Cornwallis, who rapidly bearing up, brought his broad-side to bear upon the Chevalier, and soon obliged him to take "French leave."
