

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Saturday, Dec. 7.

Took into consideration his Majesty's speech. A motion was made that a supply be granted to his Majesty.

Resolved, That this House will on Monday next resolve itself into a Committee, to consider of the said motion.

Lord Ludlow reported, that his Majesty had been waited on, to know when he would be attended by this House with their address of thanks; and his Majesty appointed this day at two o'clock. The address is somewhat similar to that of the House of Lords.

Monday, Dec. 9.

The Speaker reported to the House his Majesty's answer to their address.

Took into consideration the motion for granting a supply to his Majesty, and came to a resolution that a supply be granted to his Majesty.

Ordered the report to-morrow.

A motion was made by Mr. T. Orde, that the part of his Majesty's Speech, addressed particularly to the House of Commons, be referred to the Committee of Supply, which was revived on Friday, the motion was carried; and the Speaker having left the chair of the House, Mr. Orde took the chair of the Committee: he then read the part of the speech alluded to; and a motion for a supply having been grounded upon it, by Mr. Orde, it passed unanimously.

Tuesday, Dec. 10.

Resolved, that this House will to-morrow go into a Committee of supply.

Ordered, that an humble address be presented to his Majesty, that there be laid before the House, an estimate of the ordinary of the navy, and of the half pay to sea and marine Officers; of building, &c. of ships; of guards, garrisons, and land-forces; of the office of ordnance; charge of Chelsea Hospital, &c.

Ordered that leave be given to bring in a bill to permit the heads of certain Colleges to marry. Mr. Rolle asked of his Majesty's Ministers intended to move for the thanks of the House to the garrison and garrison of Gibraltar; and the Admiral who had so ably conducted the expedition for its relief.

Mr. Sec. Townshend said, that he believed it was not, at present, the intention of Government to move for thanks to the great Officers killed to, and the troops and seamen under his command; there were some reasons for as yet there might be a trifling opposition.

satisfactorily explained, he understood that in another place, and by one of his Majesty's Ministers, it had been explained very different indeed; for it was said by him, that the treaty was not conclusive, and the offered independence might be hereafter revoked.

Mr. Sec. Townshend said, in writing the letter alluded to, he had acted according to the dictates of his judgment; he thought it necessary to put the public on their guard against stock-jobbers.

Gov. Johnstone wished the Secretary had explained himself further, he had said nothing of the provisional treaty, if it was final, why was it not laid before Parliament? France, Holland, and America knew every tittle of it; but the Commons of Great Britain, whose honour and welfare were at stake, and interested in that treaty, were not to see, what their enemies had already read. He said that he would move, on some other day, that the provisional treaty should be laid upon the table.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer argued against the production of the treaty; but declared that the independence of America was irrevocably granted; and that the American war was dead, to rise no more.

Mr. Burke was for the production of the treaty; particularly, as it was variously interpreted; in one place, by his Majesty's Ministers, it was said to be unconditional and irrevocable; by another, and in another place, it was declared to be conditional and revocable.

Mr. Wrexall said Ministers were deluded by France; that she did not think of peace, as would appear from the unreasonable cessions that she demanded from this country: it was not yet known to the House, tho' he had good authority to say it was true, that in India, almost the only remaining jewel of the Crown, had, that could support the name or idea of the British Empire; the French have demanded, that the invaluable Northern Circars be forever ceded to them. Such a cession would be the ruin of our power in that part of the world, and leave India at the mercy of France.

The French Ministry, he was convinced, were only deceiving our Cabinet with the idea of peace, while in reality they were thinking of nothing but war. It was therefore his opinion, that we should not think of peace with the House of Bourbon, till we had effectually crushed her naval power; and therefore he wished the Speaker might be suffered to leave the chair, that the supply of seamen might be voted.

The question, for the Speaker's leaving the Chair, was at last put and carried; and the House having resolved itself into a Committee.

Mr. Brett just stated in a few words, that the number of ships of the line actually in commission, amounted to 105; and that the last year had exceeded by some thousands, the 100,000 voted by Parliament; he would therefore move this year for 110,000 seamen (including marines) for the service of the year 1783; and that 4s. per man, per month, be granted to defray the expence attending the same. This motion pass without opposition.

Notwithstanding the expected peace, several letters of marque were commissioned on Saturday last, in the Admiralty-office, Doctors Commons, to act against the Americans, as well as the Dutch, French and Spaniards.

The demands of France on our possessions in the East Indies are said to be very exorbitant. On Tuesday the Minister sent a special message to the Chairman and Directors of the East India Company, stating those demands, and calling for advice upon the subject.

Government are in full possession of an expedition designed by the Spaniards against Jamaica, to be executed forthwith, and for which a fleet of men of war are now equipping with all possible dispatch at Cadix; in consequence of which Lord Howe has received directions to go Portsmouth to take the command of the fleet.
