A LETTER from Verſailles ſays, Rodney's victory over De Graſſe did not ſtrike the Court of France with ſuch terror and diſmay as was produced by intelligence of the death of Hyder Ally.

Yeſterday Richard Pennant, Eſq; had the honour of being created a Peer of Ireland by his Majeſty.

If the peace continues, another expedition will ſhortly take place to the South Seas, under an Officer of experience in that part of navigation.

A Board of Admiralty is ſummoned to meet on Wedneſday next on buſineſs of great importance, when ſeveral officers lately arrived from the Weſt-Indies are ordered to attend.

The Officers be[illegible] to the ſeveral regiments now in the Weſt-Indies have received orders immediately to join their corps. They are to proceed to Barbadoes, where the orders are to be iſſued for their future deſtination.—They expect to be ſent to Bermudas, that being the iſland which Miniſters propoſe to garriſon and fortify in the ſtrongeſt manner poſſible.

This morning, ſome diſpatches were received from Newfoundland, dated as freſh as the 12th of July. They mention the arrival there of about 30 ſail of ſhips from Quebec and other places in America, which were to load with fiſh and then return.

Extract of a letter from Plymouth, July 29,

"Arrived the Armed Ap Zee, Warren, from Barbadoes, a prize taken from the Dutch by five ſhips of war, before hoſtilities ceaſed."

The rumours of the Definitive Treaty being ſigned are now traceable to a Miniſterial ſource.—They originated in the Secretary of State's office, and from Cleveland-row they were conveyed to Exchange-Alley, without having that effect on the funds which was expected.

D'Olier. The members were, hoiſted in the Parliament Houſe.

Extract of a letter from the Gentleman of the co. Wicklow to the Printer.

"I was much obliged by inſerting in your uſeful Paper a hint I gave in the ſpring, to cut the eyes out of the large potatoes, and ſave them for food. I conſider this to be an object this year of ſcarcity, and from the fine crops that are growing from this ſeed, I have reaſon to believe they will anſwer as well as if the whole potatoe had been cut for ſeed. The ſaving therefore is a gain to the public which was never more wanted."

Poſitive orders are received at the Caſtle, to oppoſe with the whole weight of Government, the making of annual grants, to compel annual ſeſſions of Parliament. On what principle this meaſure is oppoſed, is not known—we hear, however, with pleaſure, our Privy Council are decidedly in favour of annual ſeſſions.
