In our last we gave a paragraph ... in our favour in trading to that kingdom.

On Wednesday last, his Grace the Duke of Rutland, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, was pleased to affix his warrant, signifying his majesty's consent and permission that Richard Dalton, Lieutenant General, Chamberlain, Privy Counsellor of State to his Imperial majesty, and Commander of the Theresian Order, of the family of Mount Dalton, otherwise Lismagh, an Nugent, of Ballinacorr, both in the county of Westmeath, and the family of Grenville, in the county of Tipperary, to take, use the Title and Coat of Arms of Count of the Empire, (which honour was conferred on him and them by her late Imperial Majesty Maria Theresa,) and to have such Title and Arms registered and entered in the office of Ulster, Majesty's King at Arms in Ireland.

A few days ago, three soldiers of this garrison conveyed a letter to an officer, who had ordered a military culprit to punishment, threatening destruction if the sentence was not revoked, and their friend liberated; upon which investigation the offenders were detected, and in consequence of this audacious mutiny, ordered to receive several hundred lashes each during the execution of the martial law, the physician who attended, having declared in his opinion, that the full obedience to the sentence would endanger their lives, a mitigation was enforced, and they only received an hundred lashes each.
