

viz. James Martin, Mr. Andrew Gallagher, Mr. James Gallagher, Chaires Higgins, Luke Higgins, and Daniel Clarke, were immediately arraigned, for assaulting George Robert Fitzgerald a prisoner in the said goal, and in the custody of the goaler.

"The Attorney General opened the business. He painted with much warmth the extent of the offence for which the prisoners were arraigned—he inveighed against the turbulent spirit which had too long disgraced many parts of this country, and hoped that the Court would that day be enabled to furnish such an example, as would deter such daring violation of the laws in future from acts of outrage. He then went into an examination of his evidence, to establish the commission of the fact, by the parties above named, to which the Court paid very earnest attention—but the evidence adduced, was insufficient to come to any thing near conviction. It appeared that the goal had been forcibly entered in the evening; that the men who entered were armed with swords and pistols; the centinel who had been on duty at the goal, was examined, but declared that as the transaction took place in the dusk of the evening, he could not positively swear to the person of any one named in the indictment—of course his evidence was of no avail. Even Mr. Fitzgerald himself could not take upon him to swear to their identity; besides the parties were ready to prove an ALIBI, but for that it seems there was no necessity, as the evidence adduced could not at all affect them. The jury then without withdrawing from the box returned a verdict—NOT GUILTY.

"The Court then adjourned to Friday morning, at 9 o'clock, when George Robert Fitzgerald, Esq; was brought to the bar. He was then arraigned, and his indictment read to him. The indictment set forth, that he (Fitzgerald) had procured Timothy Brecknock, Andrew Craig, alias Scots Andrew, James Foy, Willm. and James Fulton, John Chapman, Wallis Kelly, James Masterfon, John Cox, David Saltry, Phillip Cox, Archibald Newing, John Berney, Henry George, Michael Brown, John Reheny, and William Robinson, and that he had incited, stirred up, and provoked the said persons, to murder Patrick Randal M'Donnel, Esq; and Mr. Charles Hipson, which murder the said persons perpetrated on the 21st of February.

"To this indictment Mr. Fitzgerald pleaded not guilty.—The Attorney General then proceeded in an examination of the witnesses on the part of the Crown. The principal evidence was Andrew Craig, or as he is called Scots Andrew. I have neither leisure nor inclination for the present to go into the minutiae of the trial—but the charge was fully substantiated. It appeared that Mr. M'Donnel, was murdered on the bridge of Kilnecarra, in this county—circumstances of peculiar barbarity attended the bloody deed. Mr. M'Donnel's two arms were broken at the time; he saw the blunderbuss from which he received his death, presented at him—he implored the murderer several times to spare his life, but in vain! he then held down his head, and the little doubt is entertained but he will also be found guilty.

One extraordinary circumstance came out in the course of Fitzgerald's trial;—some years ago he employed a man to shoot his brother, who actually way-laid, and fired, but fortunately missed him: he returned to Fitzgerald and told him of it, and added, that his conscience would not suffer him to persevere in so shocking a crime as murder, upon which it is presumed for fear of a discovery of his wicked intention, he instantly shot him dead, and with the assistance of his servant, Scotch Andrew, had him buried directly, in his cloaths.

Yesterday ended the election for a Fellowship in Trinity College, when Mr. Greaves was declared duly elected.

LIMERICK

There are letters in Town, which positively affirm, that Fitzgerald and five of his associates were executed at Castlebar, on Monday last.

Rathkeal Races will begin on Monday the 7th of August next.—Articles at large in due time.

Tuesday evening the Right Hon. General Pitt, commander in chief of his Majesty's forces in this Kingdom, and his Lady arrived in this city, on their way to the Lake of Killarney. Same evening Major General O'Hara arrived in town, and yesterday reviewed in the King's Island, the 21st or Royal North British Fusiliers, commanded by Lieut. Colonel Knight, and the 27th or Enniskillen Regiment, commanded by Major Gilman, when they went through their evolutions, (which were on an entire new plan) and firings to the entire satisfaction of the reviewing General, the Commander in Chief, and a great number of Spectators.

A correspondent, yesterday in the field, desires to know, why a General and his Aids-de-Camp should not receive some stipendary acknowledgment from the Colonel, Lieutenant Colonel, Major, Captains, Subalterns and Privates, on his review; as the Archbishops and Bishops, for themselves and their Officers, are used to have collected, on their Visitation-day, an annual tribute from the Dignitaries, Prebendaries, Rectors, Vicars, and Curates, in their respective Dioceses: seeing the one are regularly and punctually paid, by the King, the compact for their services; while the other, in the service of the King of Kings, are harassed by all the means of disingenuous acting, in the recovery of scarcely one half of their legal rights.

At a publick examination at the Diocesan School, Killaloe, on Thursday the 8th instant: The following young Gentlemen obtained premiums;—Latin, Powell, Cox, sen. Allen, Martin, sen.—History, Cox, jun.—Geography, Cox, sen. and Atkins.

Died, Last Tuesday, John Martin, Esq; M. D. He was a Gentleman of ancient and respectable family, long resident in Limerick, and a man of learning, having published, on his setting out in life, an Essay on Castle Connell Spa. His death is universally regretted, as he was humane and extremely hospitable, a good Physician and an honest man.

Irish State Lottery, 1786

THOMAS WALKER at his Old State Lottery Office, No. 79 Dame-street, Dublin, is now selling a Variety of TICKETS in the ensuing Irish Lottery, also Halves, Quarters, Eighths and Sixteenths. From the goodness of the Scheme, and the present low price of Tickets, it is allowed to be an advantageous Lottery, as two Irish Tickets are equal in Value to one English one, which sells for fifteen or sixteen guineas. Such Persons as purchase Tickets now, will save Twenty per cent. as they will rise considerably.

Orders for said WALKER, for Ready Money only, will be received by A. WATSON & Co. near the Exchange, Limerick, where Schemes may be had.—Also the Magazine of Fun, being a Collection of 300 Toasts and Sentiments Price 2d Limerick, May 25, 1786.

At a Special Meeting of the LIMERICK HUNT, June 10, 1786.

RESOLVED, That as the existence of the Hunt depends on the punctual payment of the Subscriptions, it is earnestly requested, that every Member may discharge any Arrear due of him to the 25th of March last, on or before the last day of the approaching Races of Limerick, as no Gentleman can afterwards be considered as a Member of the Hunt, who shall neglect paying in such arrear on that day.

N. B. It is determined strictly to enforce the latter part of this Resolution, by erasing the names of the defaulters, at the Meeting immediately succeeding the above mentioned day.

WILLIAM DOUGLAS, Sec.

A New Classical SCHOOL.

OWEN MAGRATH, Bachelor of Arts, encouraged by some Friends, begs leave to inform the Public, that on Monday the 19th Inst. he intends to open a Classical SCHOOL, in the large Apartments over the Merchant's Coffee-Room, next door to the Exchange.
