

and which displayed itself in his conduct on the trial of Mr. Odiam for the late cruel and dangerous attack on his person.—Mr. Warbuton seemed wholly attentive to the safe and preservation of the prisoner, who with the concurring testimony of the High Sheriff himself along with others, was clearly proved to have been insane, at the time he attempted the assassination.

As all the criminal prosecutions as are at the suit of the Crown, it very frequently rests with the law officers of Government, whether to indict for a capital offence, or for a misdemeanour only. Now if several of the White-boys already tried and convicted might have been capitally indicted, from the excesses and violence committed, surely the lenity of Government must be allowed, to have had them indicted for misdemeanours only, and consequently subjected on conviction, to a much less punishment than might otherwise have awaited, from several late outrages, the heinousness of their conduct.

The grant made by the King of Spain in his convention with our monarch, that has lately been ratified, of liberty for his Majesty's subjects to cut down and purchase mahogany on the Spanish main in America, must be very acceptable to the cabinet makers of these kingdoms as the Jamaica woods are nearly exhausted, as well as those which lay near the sea shore on the coast of Honduras.

Cork, Oct. 9. This day the Right Hon. the Lord Chief Baron, Mr. Justice Henn and Mr. Serjeant Toler, Judges of Assize, arrived in town from Tralee.

The outrages lately committed in Castlelyons, and its neighbourhood, are shocking to humanity: About a week ago, a numerous body of armed men surrounded the house of the Rev. Mr. Brown, in Castlelyons, fired several shots, and with horrid cries demanded that a poor labouring man (who had taken shelter in Mr. Brown's house) should be given up to them. A few nights after, they seized the poor man, stripped him stark-naked, and inflicted the cruellest punishments on his body with horsewhips, and on his head with sticks, the whole way from Castlelyons to Rathcormack, where they tied him to a stake in the Market-House, with orders to four men to guard him 'till nine o'clock next day, which orders were punctually executed.

Died. Last Wednesday, at Westwood, Mrs. Wallis, lady of John Wallis, jun. Esq;—Yesterday, at St. Finn Barry's, Mr. Joseph Harvey, a Gentleman who through a long life supported a most unblemished reputation, his manners were mild and affable, his disposition benign, and his philanthropy universal, which make his death as much regretted as he was in life beloved.

Waterford, October 10. Sunday evening was committed to the county gaol, by John Mofgrave, Esq;—Thomas Kirby, otherwise Lamb, charged with feloniously stealing a piece of linen value 13s, and upwards the property of Thomas Morrissey of Ballygallane, in this county, gent.—The above Kirby is strongly suspected of being principally concerned in the murder of the late Ambrose Power, Esq.

... be an overturning of the whole. He said, that he had heard it rumoured, that the insurgents had in view other matters, which must be destructive to the constitution if successful; he would not give credit for an instant to such rumours; he was convinced the strength and energy of Government, as well as the loyalty and spirit of the nation, was such as would crush an idea of the kind instantly on its appearance. Government had strength and energy, but it also possessed humanity, and his Lordship was happy that the measures of Government hitherto were guided by that principle; he declared his confidence that the legislature, upon proper application and a proper conduct in the people, would exert itself in giving them relief from every real oppression or grievance; his Lordship concluded a very able and animated speech, to which we are very far from being able to do that justice we would wish, or which it deserves, by recommending to the worthy mover of the amendment, to withdraw it, as the clergy were in such a situation that they could not consistently unite in a petition of the nature and tendency of that now under discussion.

The motion for the amendment being withdrawn, and the original motion, and petition being agreed to unanimously, a motion was made (we forget by whom) that the Knights of the Shire be requested to present the same to the House of Commons, immediately at their next meeting. This motion being also agreed to unanimously, Stephen Edward Rice, Esq; moved two resolutions, declaratory of the abhorrence of the meeting, at any attempt, of any description of men, to alter the constitution or the Laws of the Land, by open force or secret combination; and of their determined resolution to use every endeavour to bring all such persons to the most exemplary punishment; which being agreed to unanimously, the Earl of Glandore moved, that the thanks of the County be given to the Lord Viscount Kenmare, for his spirited and successful exertions, in quelling the outrages lately prevalent in this county, and particularly for bringing the principals therein to justice; and that the High Sheriff be requested to present a copy of the resolution to the Noble Viscount. Lord Glandore's motion passed also unanimously. His Lordship prefaced this motion with a very handsome eulogium on the loyalty public spirit, and affection for his country, which so strongly appeared in every part of the noble Viscount's conduct,—an eulogium, which we had pleasure in hearing every gentleman bear ample testimony to.

... the enjoyment of a Blessing, which derived from the Virtues and Patriotic Labours of the Citizens of Limerick;—the attention of the Senate is now particularly directed to this subject, and a considerable addition, of not less than a fifth part, will be made by the Navigation Board, to the subscriptions that shall be entered into for completing this work.

An Independent, and spirited Gentleman has already taken a leading part in some inquiries, which the Citizens found necessary on this business, and the Publick have been awakened to their situation, from the observations which were then made—let me once more intreat of my Fellow-Citizens, to meet immediately and Confer on this great occasion, from such meetings we can only expect to have some Plan struck out for completing the Shannon-Navigation.—It will be the duty of the present Chartered Company to attend there, and it must be their interest to forward such Plan as their Fellow-Citizens shall adopt, in order to have it laid early before Parliament.

The Blessings of the Poor, who will be provided with cheap firing, one of their greatest consolations, will give efficacy to our spirited exertions, and the increasing Exports, particularly of Corn and Rape, from the City of Limerick, will most amply repay our Subscriptions to this most laudable undertaking.

I am your constant Reader,
