

quence he was inveigled into an ale-house for the horrid purpose. There were several dreadful wounds on his head, made with sharp weapons, his shoe and knee-buckles with all his money taken, and after the abominable deed was perpetrated, the body was removed into the street and placed on a dunghill. The Coroner's inquest brought in a verdict Wilful Murder against persons unknown. A young girl has been since discovered who saw the body carried between two men, one she knew to be Edward Brien, otherwise Coolegarran, who keeps a public-house near where the body was laid. Brien has been apprehended through the activity of Mr. Rowland Sharp, our city gaoler, who lodged him in bridewell.

Also, a Black COACH-HORSE, which they dropped at Roscrea, in consequence of not being able to go farther, which Horse is now got, very much injured.—They stole from Roscrea, at same time they dropped the Horse, a Bay Mare, eight or nine Years Old, which is supposed in order to further their Journey farther on with the Mare they stole from Annfield; they also stole from Annfield a Saddle and Bridle, with plated Bitt and Bradoon, both almost new; the Saddle made by Mr. Kelfoe, Saddler, in Pill-Lane, Dublin; also, an old Postillion's Saddle and Bridle, with other Things too tedious to mention.

Donald; his Accomplice, James Hare, wore pretty much the same dress; was born in the County of Antrim, near Ballymena; though six or seven Years in Dublin, speaks the North Accent; is about 26 or 27 Years of Age; 5 Feet 8 Inches high; pretty strong made, very fresh coloured, and something of a pleasing Countenance, though soft about the Mouth, and has remarkable heavy thick Lips; also wears his Hair short, which is a dark brown colour, and wears large Whiskers pretty far down his Cheeks, of a reddish colour, and in Montrath said his Name was James Meagher.—TWENTY GUINEAS Reward for the Mare and Thieves on prosecuting to Conviction, or ONE GUINEA for the Mare alone, by applying to Mr. OLIVER O'HARA, Abbey-Street, Dublin.
