Waterford, Jan. 16. Yesterday arrived here from Renew's, in Newfoundland, after a tedious and tempestuous passage of 67 days, the brig Fanny, of this port, John Whelan, master, with fish, oil and passengers; during the latter part of the voyage, they experienced the greatest distress, having buried seven of the passengers; the remainder with the ship's crew, (all but the master and one of the hands,) being for several days, thro' fatigue, sickness, and want of necessaries, rendered incapable of giving the least assistance. — They were obliged to throw the greatest part of the fish overboard: the remainder it is supposed is so much damaged, as to be unfit for use. — The vessel very much disabled in her hull sails and rigging.

So great a fall of snow as happened last Tuesday Night, has not been remembered in this city these many years — in consequence of which the Dublin and Munster mails which were due on Wednesday morning last, have not yet arrived.

The Limerick Chronicle.

L I M E R I C K.

We have it from the most respectable authority, that the Parliament which assemble in Dublin to-morrow, will be adjourned for a fortnight, from the 20th Inst. by a message from the Lord Lieutenant.

We are assured that the Right Hon. Earl Spencer is to come over immediately as Viceroy — the Dukes of Norfolk and Bedford both having declined accepting the Government of this kingdom.

A few days ago was married at Bath, Nicholas Calvert, Esq; eldest son of F. Calvert, Esq; of Portland Place, London, to the Hon.
Miss Frances Pery, youngest daughter of Lord Viscount Pery, of this city.

The death of the Bishop of Elphin, mentioned in Saturday's Faulkner's Dublin Journal, must be void of foundation, as there are letters in town from his Lordship from Dublin of the same date.

The Dublin Mail, by way of Gowran and Clonmel due on Wednesday last, did not arrive until Saturday night at ten o'clock nor did the Post which arrived last night (by same route) bring the Dublin bag.

Sunday sen'night two Children being left by their Parents alone in a Cabin, on the land of Cloyerville, in this County, diverted themselves with burning sticks, one of which communicating to some flux, set that and an adjoining Cabin in flames, in which the youngest child, a girl about three years old, perished.

On Thursday last, the brig Mary, of Workington, Wm. Tiffin, master, bound for Sligo, with a cargo of rum, sugar, and coal, was obliged to run into this harbour, having met most tempestuous weather which tore all her sails — he apprehends there will be disagreeable accounts received from the sea coasts.

When his Grace of — was only an Earl, and commanded the — regiment of foot, quartered in this city, he, after many rubs in the news-papers, was at last brought to give the officers in garrison a dinner, which he did at a tavern, ordering it for fifty persons, at eighteen pence per head. The officers heard this, and were resolved to be even with him. They went to Mr. Macmanus, Master of the Three Tuns Tavern, and desired him to prepare the dinner at one guinea per head, and they would make up the difference, when the company was called into the rating room, they found a first course of all that the season could afford, a second still more costly, and a desert of the most costly kind. The noble Earl was astonished — and his astonishment grew greater when Champagne, Burgundy, and other the most costly wines appeared on the board. But he durst not make a remark. The company drank his health, admired the splendor and magnificence of the entertainment, which they said was worthy the House of —; and so well did they relish it, that they sat to the bottle until eight the next morning, breaking and spilling more than they drank, in order to swell the amount. The noble Earl retired early, sent for the landlord, and asked him the meaning of his giving such a dinner. The landlord told the truth, which made his Lordship so much ashamed of his penurious conduct, that he desired the bill to be brought in next day, and with a sigh discharged it. This is a well known fact in this city.

Married. Last Saturday, at Cahirnarry church, by the Rev. Thomas Shepherd, Richard Harte, of Coolrus, Esq; to the very amiable widow Mahony, of Batterfield, in the county Kerry, with a considerable fortune.

Died Last Monday night, greatly and most deservedly lamented by a numerous acquaintance, Mrs. Stack, wife of John Stack, Esq; of Ballyconry, co. Kerry. — Last night, in an advanced age, Mrs. M'Namara, relict of the late Mathew M'Namara, Esq; formerly Recorder of this city.

Committed. By Alderman Maunsell, last Friday, to the City Gaol, Mary Gill, alias Healy, charged with cutting off the heads of five Geese, and three Ducks, the property of Timothy Brien, of Newgarden, which fowl were found in her possession.
