

by this Hon. Friend (Col. Phipps); he was willing therefore to truit to what had been advanced, being convinced, that it must prove to the satisfaction and conviction of the House, that the mode proposed of fortifying our West India possessions was a measure founded in prudence and œconomy.

The question was then put, "That the resolutions be now read a second time;" which was carried without a division, and the motion of George Burgayne lost in consequence.

FRIDAY, March 20

The Sheriffs of London attending were called in, and presented a petition from the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, &c. praying a repeal of the Shop-tax; the same was read, and ordered to lie on the table.

—MARCH 21.—

Ministry are trying every stratagem to put off the further proceedings in the trial of Mr. Hastings till the next sessions:—some recent dispatches from the East, have probably given rise to this extraordinary measure.

On Monday morning some dispatches were received from Gibraltar, which were brought over in the Neptune, Capt. Larkin, arrived off the Start; they contain an account of their having had some very blowing weather, which had done a deal of damage to the small vessels there; and that a large Portuguese vessel which had put in there to stop a leak, was drove out to sea, and totally lost. The crew took to their boat, and were saved. That all their fresh and live stock had been expended; but a schooner from Ireland, with live cattle, arrived the 24th, which gave the garrison a prospect of having again some fresh provisions; of which they had but a sparing supply for many months, that arriving from Barbary and the Spanish main afforded very scanty relief.

His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales has been pleased to appoint the Marquis of Lothian to the Lord Wardenship of the Stanaries in Cornwall, worth 2500l. per annum, in the room of Lord Lewisham.

Some hair was cut off King Edward the Fourth's head when the coffin was opened, which was full a foot long, and of considerable strength. The colour was auburn; but this as a hue it would naturally assume, had it been even of a dark brown when the King died.

A singular cause will be tried the ensuing term, which promises much entertainment to the gentlemen of the Long Robe; the circumstances which gave rise to this curious action are nearly as follows: A soldier having obtained a furlough to visit his friends in a distant county at the commencement of the late severe frost, having exceeded the limited time of his absence from his regiment, the agent advertised him as a deserter, with an additional reward for lodging his body in any of his Majesty's gaols: a York waggoner accidentally found the poor fellow frozen to death, and having seen the reward offered, actually conveyed the deceased to a neighbouring prison, and demanded payment of the agent, who of course refused. Upon this ground the waggoner brings his action of recovery.
