

every day more into decay. Funds are absolutely wanting for building any new ships. The money arising from the sale of the 6 ships, to be employed to discharge the debts of the Admiralty, which amount to a very large sum.

Some evil-disposed persons had caused intelligence to be conveyed to the Prince of Orange, calculated to alarm him with respect to the safety of his person; of these reports, however, he now shews the most perfect disregard, appearing every day in public without any precaution.

It is believed that the Court of the Thullees communicated the plan of attack, of the 14th of April last, to the Government of Brussels, by which means the Austrians were prepared, and in greater force to receive the French troops. It is said here that the King is determined not to suffer the French troops to gain any advantage; and, as the reason, it is signed there is an arrangement between the Courts for the modification of the Constitution, which the King himself has formed the plan, the object of which is to restore the Nobles to their former footing, without any pecuniary privileges.

It is not doubted here that this plan will have the success which is expected from it; it will satisfy every Party except the Clergy, who must, in this case, be the sacrifice. England will have it in its power, in this transaction, to act the most useful and honourable part—that of Mediator.

LONDON, MAY 19, 21, & 22.

A letter was written by the King on Friday night, addressed to Lord THURLOW, Lord High Chancellor of England, declaring that he had no further occasion for his services.

It was remarkable, however, that Lord Thurlow, presided as usual in his place in the Court of Chancery on Saturday; and it is to be wished that a reconciliation may take place between the jarring parties.

This change is thus accounted for:—"Mr. Pitt, having considered the conduct of the Lord Chancellor on the National Income and Expenditure Bill, not only as a direct and decided mark of hostility to his Ministerial measure, but having also felt the language made use of on the occasion as a personal affront to himself, formed a resolution of resigning his situation, which Lord Thurlow was permitted to hold the Chancery Seals.—His Majesty was pleased to accept of his resignation, and Mr. Pitt declined going to the Levee on Friday: he was walking in the Park with Lord Grenville and the Speaker of the House of Commons, during Mr. Dundas and the Lord Chancellor's audience with the King on that day. Mr. Pitt was determined, and his Majesty had but few alternatives."

The Prince of Salm Kirburgh, has been arrested at Brussels, under the suspicion of being in the French service.—It is supposed that he will be sent to the citadel of Antwerp.

No intelligence from Paris was yesterday received in town, but a letter is received from Kirkcaldy, which states, that M. Rochambeau, on the interposition of M. Luckner, had consented to retain his command at Valenciennes, and that the latter General had set out for his station at Strasburgh.

Eleven French soldiers, concerned in the murder of M. Dillon, are apprehended at Lisle. Two attempts have been made to set fire to the suburbs of Lichtental at Vienna; and the King of Hungary has received anonymous letters, advising him not to be present at fires.

The King of Spain, in constant fear of assassination, is now more attached to his private ends than to the Ministers of State; General Sandoval, who has a command in his guards, has just received a present of an immense estate at Eltramadura, much to the discontent of M. Aranda.

The French have stationed...

friendship, and remove the disagreements, between the Ahmeedy Sirkar, the Company, his Highness the Nawaub Asoph Jab, and the Peshwa, and to cultivate the ties of intimacy between these four Sirkars, a confidential and experienced man belonging to this Sirkar will be deputed to your Lordship, in order that, by negotiation personally with every one, the displeasure of the mind may be done away, and a reconciliation with each other (which is for the good and quiet of mankind) may take place. If this meets with your Lordship's approbation, be pleased to notify it, that the above-mentioned persons may be sent to a place appointed, and the ancient friendship may be renewed.

To TIPPOO SULTAN.

Written the 16th January, 1792, after recapitulating the Letter received the 13th of January.

It is well known, that, after having made every conciliatory proposition in my power to prevent this war, I was forced, by the dictates of honour and good faith, to have recourse to arms, to save one of the Company's Allies from destruction; and I have ever been desirous to make Peace as soon as proper compensations can be received for the injuries and losses that have been sustained by the Company, and by those Allies with whom it is connected in the strictest bonds of confederacy.

But with what confidence can a negotiation be carried on with a man, who not only violates treaties of peace, but also disregards the faith of capitulations during war.

The garrison of Coimbatore ought, by the capitulation, to have been set at liberty upon certain conditions, immediately after its surrender; and I have a just right to demand, that the agreement should still be executed on the spot where it was made; but being unwilling, at this critical time, to occasion any delay that can be avoided in opening a negotiation, I shall not insist on a liberal performance of the original stipulations, on account of the length of time that the execution would require.

Let, therefore, the garrison of Coimbatore be sent to this army, to be set at liberty, according to the conditions of the capitulation that were settled between Lieutenant Chalmers and Cummur ud Deen Khan, and I shall then be ready in concert with the Allies, to fix upon a place where Vackeels from you may conveniently meet proper persons that will be deputed; on the part of the Three Confederate Powers, for the purpose of endeavouring to arrange the terms on which a general peace can be re-established.

Yesterday the arrivals of the Woodford from China, and Deptford from Madras, were announced at the India House.

The Woodford sailed from China, the 16th of January, in company with the Carnatic, and Taunton Castle, left St. Helena the 5th of April, and arrived in the Downs the 17th of May.

The Deptford sailed from Madras the 27th of January, and from St. Helena the 3d April.

The Phoenix sailed from Madras on the 20th of January, and arrived at St. Helena on the 5th of April.

The Taunton Castle and Carnatic from China, were at St. Helena.

By the arrival of the Deptford, we have news from the army down to the 19th January, at that time Lord Cornwallis had not begun his march against Seringapatam, a sufficient confirmation of the pretended account of his surrender on the 10th.

jects. Thursday a clerk in a mercantile and banking house, in Aldermanbury, absconded with cash and notes to the amount of 8000l. the property of his employers.

DUBLIN, MAY 24.

Should Lord Cornwallis refuse the propositions of his opponent, and render him desperate, the carnage must be horrible, for it is certain the whole of his strength, together with all that he values, is now centered in Seringapatam. He has been allowed, by the noble director of the British military operations in India, to possess talents highly respectable, and his dernier hopes depend upon the defence of his capital, with the loss of which his dominion must terminate. Every motive therefore that can possibly influence him, the protection of his family, treasure, sovereignty—his all in fine—are now at issue, and it is not to be doubted that his presence will produce great effects on the minds of those troops that are immediately under his inspection.

By this time, the monsoon will be setting in at that part of the East-Indies where the British troops and their allies have been fighting in the Mysore country; therefore, if Seringapatam has not been already taken, or the war ended, the troops must go into cantonments for a few months more, in order to wait for the rains being over, which would be a circumstance very unfavourable to the British interest, on account of the vast expence incurred in carrying on such a war, which the Company, rich as they are, would never be able to discharge, and, therefore, Parliament must be obliged to take the greater part on themselves.

It is said that the ladies of the Archbishop of Cashel, of Sir Henry Cavendish, and of the Rt. Hon. David Latouche are to be raised to Peerages among the list of those whose names are shortly to appear in the Gazette. It is also mentioned that Sir Barry Denny and Richard Longfield, Esq; are to be dignified with titles.
