

old Mr. Duff, "We know well enough, by G—d, Captain, what you're come about, but damn it, we'll have his Majesty's ship for all that;" and accordingly got the ship off safe. —No class of men but British tars could have acted so generously?

Reports of a Coalition being formed in England still prevail, the country cannot lose by such a measure. on the contrary, the people should expect what they have been long led to hope for, a reform in several departments.

This day comes on to be argued in the Court of Exchequer, a cause in which James Napper Tandy is Plaintiff, and John Fane, Earl of Westmorland in England, and Lord Lieutenant General, and General Governor of Ireland is Defendant.—There is no doubt the judgment of the Court will be strictly agreeable to the law of the land. [Hib. Jour.]

A number of vessels from Cumberland arrived here with Coals, to the amount of five thousand tons, since Friday last.

On Thursday last, a soldier of the 19th regiment of foot, quartered in Glasgow, being in a state of intoxication, blew out his brains, by firing his loaded musket into his mouth.

DIED. In Cavendish-row, Charles Gordon, Esq; much and deservedly lamented.—Suddenly, Mr. Stewart Thomson, son of Mr. James Thomson, of the Usher's Office, Inns-Quay.

Cork, Nov. 24. We are happy to find that Mr. Croft's stores, which were said to have been destroyed by the Mob, are not injured.

When the grain intended for exportation, is taken out of the Merchants Stores, and sold in Market, the people cannot have the shadow of excuse for violence or outrage; and every excess committed after this, deserves the severest chastisement from the Law.

Yesterday evening a fire broke out in the Work-house of Mrs. Dunagan, Tallow Chandler in Mallow-lane, and before any assistance could be given, the entire was reduced to ashes.

The Volunteer Corps of this City intend, we hear, to re-emboldy; last night parties of the Union did duty in several parts of the town, and this evening other Corps will turn out to preserve the peace.

Lady Harriett Bernard, with her usual benevolence, has lately subscribed very handsomely towards a public Coal-yard in the Town of Bandon: Several Gentlemen are contributing to this laudable institution, which must add in a high degree to the comforts of the poor.

A Boat from Crookhaven, going lately round the Mizen-head met with a foul wind and was driven to sea; She was lost, and four people on board perished.—Some of the bodies were driven on shore a few days after this unlucky accident happened.

The concord which is likely to subsist between the army and Volunteers now arming in this City may be judged from a circumstance which took place last night. Sir Henry Mannix having occasion to demand a Serjeant's Guard, it was detached to him from the Black-pool Guard, the Magistrates of our City unwilling to harass the Army, replaced this Guard with a Serjeant and Corporal and 12 Privates of the Cork Union, who were re-

had in the greatest plenty for ad. a Stone
