

proceeded to the Appeal Nominal on the question, Whether the execution of the sentence passed against Louis Capet should be delayed?

Several Members wished that the term of the delay to be voted upon should first be decided.

Legendre observed, that the first question should certainly be, whether there ought to be any delay, and that the Convention could afterwards easily fix the term.

Some Members when they voted wished to assign their reasons; but this was opposed by the Convention, and the Members were permitted to pronounce only, YES or NO.

When the Appeal Nominal was terminated, the President announced, that, after calling over the votes upon the question, What punishment should be inflicted on Louis? and after the explanations given by several who had voted for death with restriction it was found that the sentence of death pronounced yesterday upon Louis had been carried by a majority, not of five, but of twenty-seven votes.

The President then declared the result of the Appeal Nominal on the question, Whether the execution of the sentence should be delayed?

Of 748 Members, 17 were absent by commission, 21 from sickness, 8 without any assigned reason, 12 did not vote, 310 voted for delaying the execution of the sentence, and 348 against delaying it.

The Convention then ordered their Decree to be immediately notified to the Executive Council, with orders to give an account tomorrow at 11 o'clock, of the measures taken to put it in execution within 24 hours!—The Sitting rose at 2 o'clock this morning.

Paris, Jan. 20. The fate of Louis, the unfortunate, which has been long anticipated, was decided in the Convention at two o'clock this morning.

All the communication is now stopped between Louis and his Counsel. No language can paint the distress of his family. Louis XVI. waits for his fate—in a few hours the sentence will be executed; and it is to be feared, that the shedding of his blood will be only a prelude to scenes of the most dreadful carnage.—I can add no more.

L O N D O N, Jan. 23.

Wednesday Afternoon, 3 o'clock.

A second Messenger is just arrived at the house of a principal Merchant in the City, who reports, that the Execution of LOUIS the XVIth took place previous to his departure.—Paris was all in an uproar.

The late Duke of Orleans, the near relative of the King, was the loudest in delivering his vote for the murder. The Convention resented this by a murmur; and, without doubt, the wretch himself is said to have narrowly escaped with his life.

Very little business doing this morning, as people seem apprehensive of an IMMEDIATE WAR.

As a number of flat-bottomed boats are ordered to be got ready immediately, the probability is, that a descent on the coast of France will form part of our first campaign.

At Huntington, in the state of Connecticut, two men were convicted of libels against the government of the United States, and sentenced to stand in the pillory for one hour, on each of three market days; and at the expiration of the last hour, to have both ears cut off, and to be branded in each cheek with a hot iron, impressing the letter R.

Power, Jan. 20, 1793.

The Provisionary Executive Council having deliberated on the measures to be taken for the execution of the Decrees of the National Convention, of the 15th, 17th, 19th, and 20th of January, 1793, have agreed to the following arrangements:

1st. The Execution of Louis Capet shall take place to-morrow, Monday the 21st.

2d. The place of execution shall be at the Place de Revolution, formerly Louis XV. between the pedestal and les Champs Elysees.

3d. Louis Capet shall leave the Temple at eight in the morning, in order that his execution may be finished about noon.

4th. The Commissaries of the Department of Paris, and the Commissaries of the Municipality, and two Members of the Criminal Tribunal shall assist at the execution; the Secretary Register of this Tribunal shall write the proces verbal of the proceedings, and the aforesaid Commissaries and Members of the Tribunal, as soon as the execution is finished, shall render an account thereof to the Council, who will remain sitting in a permanent meeting the whole of this day. Louis Capet shall proceed by the Boulevards to the Place de Revolution.

Agreed that all the Sections be invited to remain in permanent Council, to keep all Citizens under arms, and not permit any persons whatever, not even the women, to circulate in the streets, except such as are public functionaries, employed in the Administration, and belonging to the armed force.

Monday a draft of five men was made from the 34th regiment, for the troops under orders for embarkation at Cork; a like number is to be made from every regiment in this kingdom.

DEATH. Last Saturday evening, on George's-quay, deservedly lamented by her acquaintance, Mrs. Callinan, wife to Mr. David Callinan, merchant.—Monday morning, in the Barracks, after a few hours illness, James Auldjo, Esq; Lieutenant in the 34th Regiment;—he had received an appointment a few days before to raise an Independent Company in this City, and had met extraordinary success;—he was a young Gentleman of a most amiable character, and highly respected by the Corps in which he had the honor of bearing a Commission; his remains were, at one o'clock this evening, interred in the Officers Vault, in St. Munchin's Church, with military honors.
