

Smyth, Architect; were appointed and sworn into the Office of High Constables.

Yesterday a detachment of the Royal Irish Artillery, under the command of Captain Bourchier, arrived in this City, for the purpose of raising a few Men to complete that truly respectable Regiment;—the admission into the Royal Artillery depends on such as offer being well made men, above the middling size, but more particularly on their being persons of unexceptionable character; since the party's arrival in town, a number of young men have applied for the honor of being enlisted, but not having brought proper Certificates of their Characters, could not be accepted of by Captain Bourchier.

The above party, under the direction of Serjeant M'Shea, with part of their regimental band, perambulated the City this day;—a number of clever genteel recruits immediately entered.

Last Wednesday the 50th regiment marched from Kilkenny for Rathcormick, in the County of Cork, they are to be replaced by the 22d Regt. from Galway, one division of which passed through this City on Monday morning; and another last night.—The 69th regt. expected to be embarked for Dominica on Monday last, transports having arrived at Cove the preceding week for that purpose.

On Friday night last, the gate leading into the out-offices of the Rev. Dr. Maunsell, in the Square, was broke at the bottom, and the pavement outside ripped up with a crow, so as to admit one of the gang in, but their design was frustrated by a mastiff dog; had they entered, they must have been warmly received, as the Doctor and his servants were well armed.

Saturday night, a villain or villains, broke into the work-shop of Messrs. Franklin and Power, Cabinet-makers, near Water-gate, and stole out of two Chests therein, a large quantity of bed linen, blankets and other articles, the property of a Gentleman.

A. Watson, Treasurer to the House of Industry, acknowledges to have received Three Guineas from Colonel Lefroy, and Three Guineas from the Revd. John Seymour, for the use of the House of Industry, which at no period since the House has been built, contained so great a number of Objects as at present.
