

was answered by the garrison, seven in the morning, at which and the French had thrown in a hundred and fifty shells, and shattered sixty houses nearly to the inhabitants however were had mostly concealed themselves

(on Sunday), another trumpet by a Staff Officer, arrived at the and summoned the city again, reduce it to ashes, and to give the garrison, if they refused to

of War was held immediately, the evening, a Major, accompanied by a Staff Officer, was sent to the French whom he held until Monday no, notice was given that the now was concluded, which happened to the anxious minds of the added, "That the garrison were with all the honours of war, each two field pieces, in order to de-le Duc, Thiel, Bornmel, and full liberty to remain in the service General, and to serve against whatever."

of this capitulation, the battle Nassau marched this afternoon, out at the Bosch Gate, the battalion of Van Dam, colours flying, and two field pieces to which, about three hundred and fifty French infantry, of cuirassiers, entered and took the different posts.—Few lives above occasion, only one citizen apothecary's wife wounded one of the military were killed, and were fired, but only bombs of the French is not known.

Feb. 27. Yesterday afternoon of Bose la Calmette, which that town, received orders orders were brought at three in the evening the regiment opposite banks of the Meuse. from the garrison of William- ed out to cover the work- making abbatis, an engagement between them and a detachment, but after a long and fight, our troops were at tire under the cannon of

Before they left Holland, the melancholy news was confirmed of the taking of Breda; that all the Dutch Forts, to the South and West of that place, had been attacked; and that from the feeble and disaffected Garrison, small hopes were entertained of their making any successful resistance.

The young Prince of Orange who was the nominal Governor of Breda, had written to the Commandant to disregard any injury his father's estate might sustain in that country by inundations, and to let loose the sluices, and break down the dykes to the utmost extent.—He conjured him to hold out to the last, and not to surrender the place whilst there was any chance of stopping the career of the enemy — He assured of speedy supplies of Dutch and Prussian troops, which would enable him to make head against the enemy even in the field.

—The Commandant, notwithstanding, surrendered the place without a shot being fired, and he had the effrontery to appear in Court, to give an account of his cowardly and treacherous conduct. When the Stadtholder had heard his narrative, he ordered him to withdraw. He was immediately loaded with irons, and thrown into prison.

The Stadtholder, however, seems to be unmoved and serene; and as some counterbalance for the ill fortune at Breda, a Courier arrived, a few hours before the Packet sailed, with the important intelligence, "that General Clairfait had attacked the French at Venlo, and, after a desperate engagement, taken six hundred prisoners, with their arms, and killed two thousand on the spot."

Accounts were yesterday received in town, of an alarming tumult at Drogheda on Saturday, in which, it is said, a considerable number of the insurgents, and a few of the soldiers called out on the occasion, were killed. The

also taken Klun- h near 200 pieces of hose two places — and Uberg, are burgh is invested, ordered to go and under the fort of ders is invested on who happened to be near the foot, sent immediately to Folkstone for a surgeon, but his Lordship died a few minutes after he arrived.

L O N D O N, March 6 & 7.

Yesterday Lord Grenville delivered a message to the House of Commons from his Majesty, stating, that "His Majesty having judged it expedient to employ in the service of Great Britain, a body of the Electoral Troops, for the purpose of assisting his Majesty's Allies, the States General of the United Provinces, and of prosecuting in the most effectual manner, the just and necessary war in which his Majesty is engaged, his Majesty has ordered an estimate to be laid before the House of Commons, of the charge attending the employment of the said Troops, and his Majesty relies on the zeal of his most faithful Commons, that they will be ready to make the necessary provision for maintaining the same."—Ordered, that his Majesty's most gracious Message be taken into consideration to-morrow.

The Dolphin packet, Capt. Flyn, and the Prince of Wales, Captain Hearn, arrived at Harwich yesterday morning, at ten o'clock, with the mails, and several passengers, to the amount of one hundred and twenty; amongst others were, Mr. Hope of Amsterdam, and Mrs. Williamson Hope, with her children; Captain Durell and family; Mr. Major, and Mr. East, the Messengers, bringing with them dispatches for Government.

Some of the passengers state, that before they set sail they had the pleasure of seeing the Guards, who arrived safe, and landed at Helvoersluys on Saturday last, reviewed by his Royal Highness the Duke of York, and the young Prince of Orange. They had recovered their sea-sickness, and were in high spirits ready to combat our enemies, and those of our allies.

Before they left Holland, the melancholy news was confirmed of the taking of Breda; that all the Dutch Forts, to the South and West of that place, had been attacked; and that from the feeble and disaffected Garrison, small hopes were entertained of their making any successful resistance.

The young Prince of Orange who was the nominal Governor of Breda, had written to the Commandant to disregard any injury his father's estate might sustain in that country by inundations, and to let loose the sluices, and break down the dykes to the utmost extent.—He conjured him to hold out to the last, and not to surrender the place whilst there was any chance of stopping the career of the enemy — He assured of speedy supplies of Dutch and Prussian troops, which would enable him to make head against the enemy even in the field.

—The Commandant, notwithstanding, surrendered the place without a shot being fired, and he had the effrontery to appear in Court, to give an account of his cowardly and treacherous conduct. When the Stadtholder had heard his narrative, he ordered him to withdraw. He was immediately loaded with irons, and thrown into prison.

The Stadtholder, however, seems to be unmoved and serene; and as some counterbalance for the ill fortune at Breda, a Courier arrived, a few hours before the Packet sailed, with the important intelligence, "that General Clairfait had attacked the French at Venlo, and, after a desperate engagement, taken six hundred prisoners, with their arms, and killed two thousand on the spot."

D U B L I N, March 11.

Accounts were yesterday received in town, of an alarming tumult at Drogheda on Saturday, in which, it is said, a considerable number of the insurgents, and a few of the soldiers called out on the occasion, were killed. The residing within a district of three or four miles of the place where the last corporation business was transacted, who possessed a freehold of 20l. should be entitled to vote in such boroughs; also, that persons from birth or service, should be entitled to vote. He did not intend to meddle with existing charters, he intended to propose in the bill an oath, which he considered as a very essential act to verify, that the person returned to serve in Parliament did not purchase his seat. He should make that oath very strong; these were the outlines of what he intended to introduce into the bill, and he hoped that at the next meeting he should be able to lay it before the House.—He then moved for leave to bring in a bill for amending and improving the state of the representation of the people in Parliament. After a short observation from Sir Hercules Langrishe, leave was given, and ordered that Mr. Wm. Ponsonby and Mr. Conolly do prepare and bring in the same.

Went into Committee on the Militia Bill, Mr. Mason in the Chair.—Went through the same, and ordered to be reported on Monday next.—Adjourned to the 18th of March.

L I M E R I C K.

Last Sunday, at Donast, Robert Kingsley, firing an old rusty musquet, which had been over-charged, the piece burst, and the lock recoiled with such violence as to be lodged in the unfortunate young man's head; he is still alive, but in the most excruciating torture.

Sunday John Waller, Esq; one of the Representatives for this County; and Monday night, John Prendergast Smyth, Esq; one of the Representatives for this City, arrived in town from Dublin.

Last Monday, John Downes, Esq; Surveyor of Excise, brought into town, and lodged in his Majesty's stores, three hogheads of smuggled Whiskey, which he seized near this town.

Monday evening, the Right Hon. Lord Chief Justice Yelverton, the Hon. Baron Hamilton, and Mr. Serjeant Chatterton, associate Judge, arrived in town from Clonmel, and opened their respective Courts.

Yesterday the Grand Juries for the County and City, were sworn in:

- COUNTY GRAND JURY.
JOHN WALLER, Esq; Foreman.
Charles S. Oliver, Anthony Lefroy, John Brown, Wm. Thos. Lock,
Darby O'Grady, Richard Harte,
William Odell, Mich. Furnell,
J. Fitz-Gerald, Knight of Glin, Anthony Copley, De Courcy O'Grady, Mich. Scanlan, jun.
John Tuthill, Samuel Dickson, Richard Taylor, Henry Bevan, Camas, Thos. Lloyd, Prospect, John Green, William Ryves, Mau. Studdert, jun.
J. T. Westropp, Bal- Jas. Gubbins, Esquires. lysteen, and

- CITY GRAND JURY.
J. PRENDERGAST SMYTH, Esq; Foreman.
Walter Widenham, John B. Westropp, Eaton Maunsell, George Ross Lewin,
Thomas Vereker, William Russell,
Joseph Gabbett, William Wallace,
Charles Vereker, Joseph Sargent, Arthur Ormsby, William Hunt,
John Ormsby, Charles Sargent, Thomas Gabbett, John Harrison, George Gough, Amos Vereker,
Charles Johnston, Norcott D'Esterre,
Hugh Brady, Esquires
John Fitz-Gerald,

BIRTH. Last Sunday morning, at The Bank, the Lady of Robert Maunsell, Esq; of a Son.

DEAD. Saturday last, in Dublin, Mrs. Weir, wife to Edw. Thomas Weir, Esq; and daughter to Thomas Vokes, Esq; of this City,—she bore a tedious illness with christian resignation, and her death is sincerely lamented by a numerous acquaintance.—Last Monday night, in Crossie-row, after a tedious illness, George Gillman, Esq; late Captain-Lieutenant in the 27th Regiment; he was a young Gentleman of amiable character, and is much regretted.—This morning, on Rutland-Row, universally lamented, Mrs. Morony, wife to Thomas Morony, of Milltown-Malbay, co. Clare, Esq;—her death is an irreparable loss to the fondest of husbands, and numerous infant offspring, as well as to all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance.

POST-NEWS, March 9. Sailed the Gomes, Ferrol posted in Six An IN Capt

L Desire of is SON to portunity Kins G Bounty of to Capta GREEN, Capt
the Lad of Prom may exp der his C and much

TO
FROM the for 45 Years SHOP with the possession lat-street, near

MR. PINCHIN Land seventy-five and Meadow House and Or Lives in being peacon and Fel
City of Limeric said PINCHIN, LAGHAN, Attor
(19)

ANN Widow of Daniel BEGS leave to Public, that Business which The SPIRIT
entreats therefo the Publick, whom Terms, her utmost
She requests
Husband, will order Payment of their any outstanding Deb ply with this reason for the same without (2p.)

LOOKING RICHARD GALL Manufacturer, Street, Dublin, being the Publick, to bring of French, Oval, and which are opened for
Mr. GEORGE DAVIS, Mary-street, and are ever brought to this regularly bred to the his Work finished un him to Sell at the low N. B. Old Plates tak to Sell again, will with him.

TO be Sold by near Limerick,
Inf. Fifty choice Da
Stock.—Nine month
Security, and one Ready Money.