Charity Sermon, with a grand and solemn Concert, by all the Professors and Musical Gentlemen of this City.

The Charity Sermon will be Preached at St. Mary's Chapel, precisely at 2 o'clock tomorrow, by the Rev. Mr. Goonan; after which a Concert will be performed by Gentlemen, who have politely and benevolently made every arrangement for the purpose.—They will also accompany the poor Boys in singing a Hymn, and the Royal Anthem, "God Save the King."—A collection will then be made in support of this valuable Institution, wherein one hundred destitute Children will henceforward be educated, clothed, and instructed in the principles of the Christian Religion, and thereby rendered useful Members of Society. As the Directors intend to have the Company properly accommodated, they earnestly request that no person but the Performers will go into the Orchestra, and that those Ladies and Gentlemen who come in carriages, will, when set down, desire their Servants to advance, to make room for those who follow.

The passage to the Chapel is in the most perfect order, having been, by order of the Magistrates, cleaned to the Door.

Such is the happy effects of Charity on good minds, and the cheerfulness with which several Musical Gentlemen offered their services to the poor Orphans, that the Directors had the pleasure of seeing yesterday at the Rehearsal, sixty-two instrumental and vocal performers; a sight never before seen in this City. The effect of such a Grand Concert in the Chapel, with the Chorusses of the Hymn and Royal Anthem, was truly sublime, and extremely pleasing to a number of persons who were present.

Thursday three companies of the 41st. regt. marched into town from Galway, and this morning proceeded for Cork.

Friday a young man of the name of Meagher, viewing the works of the Mill belonging to Mr. Smith, of Nenagh, one of the shafts threw him on the wheel, by which his skull was broke in several pieces, and the head totally severed from the body.
