FRENCH GRATITUDE.

Sir Edward Newenham, Capt. Harman, and Mr. Kerr, of the Summer-Hill Committee, having waited on Monsieur Bastelot, in Comberland-street;—he told them that he had but little money at present, but requested their acceptance of 7 guineas, adding, "That he would send them 500l. more for those brave soldiers who were fighting for Religion and Morality, as soon as he got in the money due to him, for it was a duty he owed Irish Soldiers."

We are authorized to state to the public, that in the numerous applications made by the Summer-Hill Committee for the support of the British Army, they did not receive more than six refusals:—this evidently evinces the spirit of the people, and their cordiality in support of a just and honourable war.

Mr. J. Fay who was brought into town on Monday from Navan, was yesterday taken to the Court of King's Bench, whence he was committed to Newgate.

Yesterday the 33d regiment, under the command of the Hon. Lieutenant-Colonel Wesley, was reviewed by General Massey.

From the distinction which that regiment has gained by its discipline and appearance, the Reviewing General (no doubt) expected to see it as perfect as could be imagined, under the disadvantages of a late augmentation.

He had the pleasure to find his expectations surpassed, which we understand, he acknowledged in the most complimentary terms to the commanding officer.

There are letters in town from Paris by the Packets which arrived here yesterday, of so late a date as the 18th of this month, which confirm the accounts in the papers of the Convention against the British subjects being released, in consequence of which, all who were confined in that city, were liberated the 9th inst. Particular favour, however, it seems, was on this occasion shown to the celebrated female writer, Miss Woolstonecraft, the only of all the English in the French capital, not having been arrested.

On Saturday last Mr. W. H. Turner's Poem "Ancient Rome considered in its rise, zenith, and declension, as contrasted with its modern appearance," obtained in our university a premium for English verse composition.

On Sunday last an excellent charity sermon was preached in Eustace street meeting-house, at which was collected 146l.

We reflect with great pleasur crease of Charity Schools in thi which vice and wickedness must gra crease, and religion flourish. It is n ed, but the labour of the children, ad the committee of the United Free Sch the munificence of the Publick, will maintain them, in a year or two, bu their Committee to build a suitable Hou them.
