

indemnify the Commissioners of wide-streets against any actions that might be brought against them by Mr. Ottiwell; and also to indemnify Mr. Ottiwell against any actions that might be brought against him by the Commissioners; and it also went to validate the titles of those persons who derived under Mr. Ottiwell, provided they made a surrender to the Commissioners, and enabling them to recovery; those he said were the principal outlines of his bill, and the House might make such amendments to it as they thought necessary.

After a short conversation between Sir John Blaquiere, Mr. Grattan, Mr. Conyngham, and Mr. Mason, Mr. Hoare withdrew his motion for the present, and said he should to-morrow move for leave to bring in a bill of a similar nature under a different title.

Mr. Grattan presented a petition from the principal booksellers of the city of Dublin, stating the inconveniencies they labour under from the operation of a tax of two-pence a pound weight laid on last Session of Parliament on all paper imported, and praying relief. The petition was received, read, and ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. Grattan also presented a petition from the book printers of the city of Dublin, upon the same subject, and praying general relief; ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. Mason brought up the report from the Committee of Ways and Means, which was read and agreed to by the House.

The House, according to order, resolved itself into a Committee of the whole House, to consider further Ways and Means, towards raising the supply granted to his Majesty, Mr. Mason in the chair.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer moved the usual duties on the postage of letters and newspapers, which were agreed to, and on the House being resumed, ordered that the report be received to-morrow.—The House adjourned.

Wednesday, February 10.

Mr. Hoare, agreeably to his proposition of yesterday, presented his bill for annulling the bargain between Mr. Ottiwell and the Commissioners of Wide-Streets, under the new title of a Bill for the Improvement of the City of Dublin, and for controuling the proceedings of the Commissioners of Wide-Streets.

The introduction of this bill was warmly opposed by the Hon. Mr. Annesley, Col. Blaquiere, Right Hon. Denis Browne, Sir Harry Cavendish, and the Hon. Francis Hutchinson—and the admission of the bill, considering it open to correction and amendment, supported by the Rt. Hon. John Monk Mason, and Sir J. Blaquiere.—Upon the question being read, the House divided, when there appeared for the Bill, Ayes 23—Noes 67.

Cork, Feb. 8. Last Monday 260 French Prisoners were ordered to be disembarked from the Carrel, and put into the prison at Kinsale, and on Wednesday all the provisions, beer, &c. for their subsistence to France, were sold by Auction, which seems to evince that there will not be a speedy termination of the present war. The Carrel was ready to sail several days before orders arrived for stopping her, but prevented by contrary winds.

A few Copies of "An Essay on the best means of providing Employment for the People," by the late SAMUEL CRUMPE, M. D. M. R. I. A.—Concerning this Work, which is written WITH A PARTICULAR VIEW to the situation and circumstances of IRELAND, we quote the following Extract from the Monthly Review for December, 1794:

"Having thus accompanied Dr. C. to the end of his Literary Journey, we take leave of him with regret; declaring that, since the appearance of Doctor Adam Smith's celebrated Work, we have not seen a more able performance, on the same subject, than that which we have now reviewed."

Also—A TREATISE UPON OPIUM, (Price 5s. 3d.) by the same Author; in a Letter to whom, from Doctor Gregory, of Edinburgh, is contained the following character of the Work: "Your Book exhibits the result of much study both in point of reading and thought; your reasonings are acute; your observations and conclusions are important, and for the most part, I really believe, just and fairly deduced. Your experiments too are well contrived, and distinctly told, and seem to have been very fairly conducted; as a Book of Medical Science, therefore, I have no doubt but that your Work possesses considerable merit." Feb. 13, 1796.
