

in short a period of time. In the course of last week the sum was upwards of 80,000.

Wednesday se'nnight, a trial for crim. con. came on at York, in England, in which a Mr. Baldwin of that country, was Plaintiff, and Richard Oliver, Esq; late of the co. of Limerick, Defendant.

The former charged the latter with having had a criminal intercourse with his wife for upwards of three years, who was the daughter of the late Sir Nathaniel Barry, of this city, which he endeavoured to prove by evidence.

Counsellor Erskine appeared in behalf of the Defendant, and very ably defended his client.—In the course of his defence he highly reprobated the manner in which the parents of the female in question had brought her up, who not content with accomplishing her with education, they made upon her account a private theatre in their own house in Dublin, where the seeds of virtue had been blasted, and to which might be ascribed the propensities of which her husband now complained.

He dwelt for a considerable time upon the evils that must result from private theatres, which he said were no better than lures for gallantry and debauchery, and said that in any city where they were permitted, encroachments upon conjugal boundaries would be very frequently heard of. The Jury brought in a verdict of One Shilling for the Plaintiff.

Our correspondent mentions, that many females in the tow of York, were so interested in favour of Mr. Oliver, that when the trial was over, the decision of which they considered equal to an acquittal, they wore white cockades, as testimonies of joy.

House of Commons.—SATURDAY, MARCH 26.

Mr. Secretary Pelham moved, that the House do at its rising this day adjourn until Tuesday next, which was agreed to.

Read a third time, passed, and ordered to the Lords; the bill for directing the application of the sum of 5,500l. granted by Parliament, to the Dublin Society, for the improvement of husbandry and other useful arts; also, the bill to empower the Commissioners of his Majesty's revenue, with the approbation of the Lord Lieutenant, to erect Light Houses around the coasts of this kingdom, and to levy a tonnage duty on all shipping.

A message from the Lords, by two of the Masters in Chancery, that they had agreed to the bill for improving and repairing the road leading from Dublin to Navan without any amendments; also that the Lords had agreed to the bill for regulating the issuing of licences for the sale of spirituous liquors by retail, and for remedying the abuses which have arisen from the immoderate use of such liquors, which were ordered to the Lord Lieutenant for transmission.—House adjourned to Tuesday next.

ENNIS, March 28. Yesterday a person of the name of Keliher unfortunately shot one Quin who lived near Ennistymon. It seems that Keliher had a warrant against Quin, and on arresting him, presented a pistol at his head, which went off and killed him on the spot. Keliher has been secured, and was this day conveyed to town and lodged in jail.

Yesterday Jones Harrison, Esq; and his new married lady arrived at his father's house in this town, upon which occasion the inhabitants shewed such tokens of esteem and affection, as must prove highly flattering to him and his friends.—At night the town was brilliantly illuminated, and bonfires lighted up in different parts thereof.
