DIED. A few days ago in Nenagh, at an advanced age, Miss Ann Short, whose patience and fortitude rendered her superior to a very tedious and painful illness, notwithstanding some violent struggles of our irritable nature: through life she was exemplary in her whole deportment; and, as to the common infirmities of humanity, her foibles were those of the best of women: but her virtues were such as constitute the perfection of the humane character.—Last Tuesday, in Nicholas-street, Dublin, deservedly lamented by her family and acquaintance, Mrs. Milkin, Wife to John Milkin, Esq; and daughter to Francis Turton, Esq; of this City.
