both piece and carriage horseback, or, on emergencies, on men's shoulders, has been invented by an ingenious Gentleman in Bengal. Its use and effects were tried by several charges of grape shot, to the entire satisfaction of many judicious beholders.

His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant arrived on Saturday at Kilkenny, where he will remain for a few days the guest of the Earl of Ormond, and from thence proceed to town.

The Lord Chancellor is among the distinguished visitors at the Castle of Kilkenny. His Lordship is expected in town on Sunday; and, we hear, will sail on Monday for England.

Cork, Sept. 21. Yesterday, his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant arrived here from Bantry with his suite. He was escorted to town by a number of Yeomen Cavalry and some troops of horse.—Soon after he inspected the Loyal Cork Legion and Royal Cork Volunteers on the Grand Parade, of which he expressed the highest approbation, after which entertainment was provided.—At night the whole City was grandly illuminated, and his Excellency honoured the Theatre with his presence, and was most agreeably received by almost incessant plaudits, which he very politely returned by saluting the audience, more numerous than we have seen for the season. He was then escorted by two troops of horse to Dunkettle, the head-quarters of Gen. Dalrymple.
