Contracts for biscuit-making are to commence at Portsmouth on Thursday next; and when it is considered that the stock in hand is equal to at least 8 months consumption, the negotiations for peace may fairly be said to be at an end.
Sir Sydney Smith continues at Paris, in the most rigorous confinement. There is, at present, no prospect of his being exchanged.
The Commissioners from America are arrived at Paris.

The Brilliant frigate has chaced on shore and destroyed, on the coast of Norway, the Intrepid brig privateer, mounting 20 guns, nine and six-pounders, and 150 men; also the Chasseur lugger, mounting 12 four-pounders, and 50 men.—Both the above privateers belonged to Dunkirk, and were returning to Bergen from a cruize, having taken several prizes. The crews deserted them immediately on their running ashore.
At a very early hour yesterday morning, a meeting took place between Lieutenant-Colonel Fitzgerald, and Lieutenant-Colonel King, of the Coldstream. The parties met by agreement behind the powder magazine in Hyde-Park. Mr. F. walked to the spot from his house near Park-lane; and Mr. K. came to the Park in a hackney-coach.

The cause of this meeting has already been the subject of several paragraphs in the newspapers. Col. F. it is said, seduced the Hon. Miss K. from her mother, Lady K.—gh, near Windsor. The young lady has been advertised. She was traced from Walworth by the exertions of Mr. Lowten, and is now restored to her friends. Colonel F. is a married man, and is related to Lord K.—gh's family, with which he lived in habits of great intimacy. Colonel K.— is the brother of the unfortunate young Lady.

The parties having met, tossed up for the first fire, which fell to the lot of Mr. F. After discharging three cases of pistols each without effect, Colonel Fitzgerald very quietly put on his great coat, and left the field: neither party, we understand, had any more ammunition, which was the occasion of their parting in the above manner. Major Wood was Colonel K's Second; F.— was Major Wood's Second. Major Wood, with much difficulty, found F.—, when he told him that Colonel K. had come to punish him for his seduction and perfidy. Col. F. has been put under arrest. Col. Stephens: Lord K. and his brother George arrived from Ireland on Thursday last. Lord Kingsborough was in Ireland when he received the first intelligence of his daughter's flight. His Lordship immediately set out for England, but before his arrival the young lady had happily been restored to her family. Lord Kingsborough, son of the Earl of Kingsborough, whilst a school-boy, with his daughter of the late Colonel Fitzgerald, inherited an estate of more than 20,000l. a year. His Lordship has a numerous and fine family; his eldest daughter is married to the Earl of Cashel: his son, Colonel King, has been the greater part of the war in America, from which he has not long been returned.
The woman, we understand, at whose house Miss K.— lodged in Clayton-street, London, who gave information of the place of her retreat. The unfortunate young Lady is confined in a back room in her father's house, at George-street, Hanover-square. She is labouring under the deepest mental distress, being constantly in tears, and keeping her face covered with her hands. Her beautiful hair has been cropped, the better to disguise her.

... Gu-Britain and Ireland; and in some cases according to the treaty, more favourable terms, which must considerably injure, in future, the trade of these countries.
South America has been long the unhappy theatre of the most dreadful earthquakes, by which Lima, Cusco, the capital of Mexico, and other chief cities and towns that part of the world, were nearly destroyed, and many thousands of the inhabitants buried in the ruins, as had been lately the case. The islands situated in the Gulph of Mexico, such as Hispaniola, Cuba, and Jamaica, have frequently experienced the like calamity, especially the last mentioned, Port Royal, the chief city heretofore, being destroyed three times. The region within, or situated near the Torrid Zone, appears subject to such a scourge than any other parts of the globe.—Countries in high latitude in the northern or southern hemispheres, seem experience that dreadful visitation.

Cork, Oct. 2. This day James Mill Berry, Esq; was sworn in Mayor; Robert Harding, M. D. and John Cuthbert, jun. Esqs. Sheriffs of this city for the ensuing year.

Convictions and Sentences in the County Court at the last Assizes:—John Barry and Wm. Barry, for robbing the house of Denis Leary, to be hanged on Saturday the 28th inst.—Daniel Mahony, for cow stealing, recommended by the Grand Jury, to be burnt in the hand.—John Franks, for sheep stealing, recommended by the Grand Jury, to be burnt in the hand, and imprisoned three months.—Roger Brien, and John Wholehan, for robbing the house of Patrick M'Carthy, to be transported for seven years.

Married. On Saturday last, James Gilman, of Oak-Mount, Esq; to Miss Lander, of this city.
Waterford, Sept. 3. Thursday night a small boat, with two men on board, going from hence to Carrick, was upset in the Long Reach, and the two unluckily perished. It was not known they had been drowned till the sails, mast, &c. were found floating some time after.

Ennis, Oct. 5. Within these few days, we are concerned to state, that a sucker from the society of United Irishmen has been discovered in this hitherto loyal and peaceable neighbourhood. It does not appear to have acquired much consistency or organization. Several unthinking young men, deluded to take the oaths prescribed by this band of traitors, have been apprehended by the spirited and indefatigable exertions of Thos. Crowe, Esq. The most criminal have been committed to gaol, and several others, upon acknowledging their guilt, giving security for their good behaviour, and taking the oath of allegiance, have been liberated.

The Ennis Cavalry, commanded by Captain Crowe, yesterday scoured the country beyond Milltown, in pursuit of some of the supposed principals in this business, but they having previous information of their danger, eluded the pursuit by a precipitate flight.
