

The two Companies of the City of Limerick Militia, which were quartered at Ballinacree, marched from thence on the 14th Inst. for Ach-lone, and one Company from Tuam for Banaher; Ach-lone is now head-quarters of that Regiment.

On Sunday last the Lord Bishop of Killaloe, held an Ordination in the Cathedral Church of said town, when the Rev. Standish Grady Parker, A. B. was Priested, — and Messrs. Richard Fitz-Gerald, George Rose, Thomas Bunbury Gough, and John Simarson Armstrong, Bachelors of Arts, were ordained Deacons.

In the debate of the 4th March, 1794, Serjeant Barington, after strongly reprobating the pernicious doctrine of the United Irishmen, drew the following ludicrous picture of them: — "The Society," he said, "was composed of Doctors without practice, Barristers without briefs, Dol-lies without torts, foolish Gentlemen, mad Printers, mal-content Politicians, and idle Tradesmen."
