

Major General Knox, for carrying out the English Article of the Convention signed at Alkmaar:

Article I. In conformity to the English Article of the Convention concluded at Alkmaar, 5000 prisoners of war, French and Batavian, taken previously to the present Campaign, and now under detention in England, are to be unconditionally released and sent home—the choice and the proportion of prisoners for each to be settled between the Governments of the Allied Republics; and Major General Knox is to remain with the French army to guarantee the execution of the said Article.

Art. II. According to the proportion settled by General Brune, Fifteen Hundred Batavian and Six Thousand Five Hundred French prisoners are to be released.

Art. III. The Six Thousand Five Hundred French prisoners to be released shall consist in the first instance, and as far as the number now in England may be sufficient, of all persons belonging to the land forces; and the number, if not completed from troops of this description, shall be made up by officers and persons belonging to the sea service. The latter to be selected according to the length of time they have been prisoners, or according to any other instructions which may be given by the Minister of the Marine, to the French Commissary in England.

Art. IV. Amongst the persons to be released shall also be included all the officers hereafter named, already returned on Parole, and specified by the Minister of War.

Art. VIII. The foregoing articles are applicable in their full extent to the release of the Batavian prisoners, and the mode of carrying the agreement into effect with respect to these prisoners, shall be settled by Major-General Knox with the Government of the Batavian Republic.

Art. IX. No delay shall take place in carrying the present agreement into execution, and all the necessary orders shall be given by Major-General Knox, or by the English Go-mouth to Exeter by a party of the Somerset Provisional Cavalry, and from thence by a party of the 17th Dragoons. The first waggon carried on the outside the Spanish Colours prostrate under the English Flag. A vast number of people assembled to see them pass.

A Court of Common Council was held yesterday at Guildhall, present the Lord Mayor, about 14 Aldermen, and near 200 Commoners, to take into consideration Mr. Waithman's motion, to address his Majesty upon the failure of the late expedition to Holland.—When Mr. Waithman's motion was made and seconded, it produced a very warm and animated debate for a great length of time; when an amendment was made by Mr. Dixon, that most of the words in the original motion be left out, and that the following words be inserted in lieu thereof, viz. "That it would be highly derogatory to the honour of this Court to countenance such a motion, as it tended to convey an insult to his Majesty."

This produced a farther debate, and a little after three o'clock the question being called for, the Amendment was carried by a majority of between 80 and 90, nearly 3 to 1, by which Mr. Waithman lost his original motion. There was only one Alderman for Mr. Waithman's motion.

We have just received the Paris Journals to the 4th Primaire (Nov. 25)

These Journals contain official details of a considerable success in Suabia; they speak of a victory at Feldkirch; and of the army in Italy being in force at Novi. A part of the Chouans have been defeated, with the loss of 2000 men. A suspension of hostilities is declared with them on the right bank of the Loire.

The new revolution is well received by the armies, and in all the departments except one or two towns. General Jourdan, and other deputies ordered to be imprisoned, are pardoned, and a system of mercy is shewn generally towards them. Talleyrand is Minister of foreign affairs. All the papers and public acts speak strongly of Peace.

The Minister for Foreign Affairs, in a letter to the French Ambassadors at Foreign Courts, dated the 21st Brumaire (Nov. 12) says—"that an impulse has been given, and all the authorities are about to labour efficaciously in the great work which the destinies of the republic have imposed upon them, to organize order in all the parts of the administration, re-establish internal tranquility, and procure a solid and honourable Peace." The Minister also charges them to add to the governments to which they have been dispatched, "that to procure a solid and honourable peace to Europe, it is necessary that the confidence in the loyalty, power, and justice of the government of the republic should be equal to the sincerity of the wishes which they will not cease to make for peace, and to the fidelity with which they are invariably resolved to fulfil their engagements.

Paris, Nov. 24.

An official letter from the commander-in-chief of the army of England, dated Angers, announces the defeat of an army of Chouans, who have lost 2000 men in killed and wounded; the others were dispersed.

A letter from Angers, dated the 17th says, the repeal of the law of hostages has been proclaimed; the Chiefs of the Chouans have had a conference with the Republican General, and a suspension of arms on the left bank of the Loire has taken place.

from England. We hear his Lordship has taken Lord Cloncurry's house in Merrion-square, for a short time, at 500l. a year.

The five prisoners brought lately from Liverpool have been confined in Kilmainham Goal. Until yesterday they all affected to be Frenchmen, and the ease with which they spoke French supported the imposture: one of them has, however, betrayed himself by speaking English, and now owns that his name is Andrew Flanagan; he is of the county of Longford, served in Humbert's Army under the name of Salulet and is indentified as having been a very active and mischievous Rebel.

Extract of a letter from Wexford, Nov. 26. —"Last Sunday evening, (Nov. 24) between six and seven o'clock, some prisoners made their escape out of gaol here. There were 12 confined in one cell—they contrived by instruments conveyed into them, to break a hole in the wall, over the river: nine got thro' it, but one of the men of the Sligo regiment of Militia, going over the bridge, heard a splash in the water (the tide was in) and directly plunged in, and gallantly seized two. He was soon assisted by another of the same regiment, and they lodged those two again in the gaol, and prevented the other three also from escaping, but seven made their escape, notwithstanding every effort made by all the regiment.

"We need not say it has given us great pleasure to find the conduct of the Sligo Militia on this and every other occasion since they came to Wexford, highly approved of by the Sheriff, Magistrates, and all the well disposed here. The Turnkey is strongly suspected of aiding them in their escape, for which the Sheriff immediately ordered him to be put in irons."
