COUNTRY NEWS,

Ennis, June 10. Last week John Downes, Efq; Surveyor of Excife, accompanied by John Brown, Guager, and a detachment of the 1st Fencibles and Longford Miliria from this town, proceeded to the Barony of Tulla, where they destroyed a number of private distilleries, spilled feveral thousand gallons of pot-ale and finglings, and on Priday last they brought in here, and lodged in his Majefty's ftores, two of the largest private fills we recollect to have feen.

LIMERICK,-JUNE 11.

A few nights ago, the house of Henry Smithwick, Efg, near Tipperary, was attacked by an arised banditti, who, with a sledge or hatcher, broke in the kitchen door; on which a young ferwant Boy, the only Male in the house, (Mr. S. being from home) fired a loaded Carabine at the affailants, which must have wounded fome of them feverely, from the quantity of blood which appeared outlide the door; notwithstanding this they perferered, and got into the house-when, fortunately, a Patrole from the Nottingham Feneibles, quartered in the town of Tipperary, happened to pols near the place, and hearing the thor, tollowed the direction of the noise; on their approach all the Ruffians who were outlide the houfe fled, and made their efcape ; but two who were infide, and had got post fin of Mr. Smithwick's arms, were fecured by the Soldiers, and immediately fent off to Cloquel.
