

Yesterday being the anniversary of the Birth of King William,—and this day being that of Gunpowder Plot,—the troops in garrison fired three volleys at the Canal, which was accompanied by a royal salute from Captain Crawford's Company of Royal Artillery.

Committed, yesterday by the Rev. J. Graves, to the County Gaol, James Kennedy, charged for uttering a forged Bank Note to Mr. Cullhane of Rathkeal, Merchant.

DIED. On Sunday last, at his house in Townshend-street, Dublin, deservedly and universally lamented, the Rev. Joseph Ignatius O'Halloran, D. D.—Mr. O'Halloran was born in this City on the 19th of March, 1720, educated at the Rev. Mr. Cahlin's school, and in the year 1736 entered a Pensioner at the Jesuits' College in Bourdeaux, and passed through the several degrees with an éclat that did honor to the discernment of that Society; his several religious and philosophical publications, prove him to have possessed the profoundest erudition.—Last Monday, at Carnelly, in the Co. of Clare, Wm. Rafs Lewin, Esq; late Lieutenant in the City Limerick Militia, —he lived beloved as he died regretted by a numerous and respectable acquaintance.
