

General Abercrombie were to sail for Alexandria the 28th of January; the force consisted about 17,000 men, all in good health and spirits. Lord Keith had seven sail of the line, besides frigates. The first division of transports, consisting of about twenty sail, left Smyrna on the 28th of January, under convoy of the Vigilante brig. It is supposed they put into Minerva, near Metelyn, as the wind continued for six or four days to the Southward. The transports left at Smyrna, were expected to be ready the first week in February, and then to sail under the command of the Greyhound frigate; they were parted with forage, and the rest fitted up as horse mule traps.

A report was circulated at Smyrna, that 5000 men troops had reached Alexandria, and landed; but this was not credited; others said, with little foundation, they had landed at Berguzzi. The plague had broke out in the Vizier's Army (already much reduced by desertion) at Jassa, General Koehler and his wife had fallen victims to it. The French in Egypt had declared that they would withstand every attack the English might make.

Capt Lee was coming on his way to Malaga, capt a Greek brig from Malta to Patras, who armed him the Alexander man of war and the Pele frigate were at Malta. There is a rumour that the Keel Indian had been re-captured.

Yesterday Lord Loughborough took leave of the Court of Chancery, and this day he resigned the situation of Chancellor.

The Irish Martial Law Bill has passed the Serial House of Commons, after a long contestation, in which Sir John Parnel, Sir Francis Burrell, Mr. Horne Tooke, and Mr. Whitbread warmly disapproved of the enacting of the bill; Francis Burrell having alluded to the well-known affair of Woollaghan, drew up Lord Keble, who vindicated the character of the Earl of Enniskillen, (President of the Court-Martial which acquitted Woollaghan.)

The Irish Habeas Corpus Suspension Bill, and the Irish Master of the Rolls Bill having passed the Commons, were, as well as the above-mentioned Bill laid before the Lords, where they were read a first and second time, and ordered to be committed for Monday.

Mr. Isaac Corry moved for the 3d reading of the Bill for prohibiting the use of Malt in the distilleries in Ireland—Read a third time, and agreed to the Lords. The Irish Duty Bill was read a third time and passed.

At the Peers, on Lord Walsingham's suggestion the Printer of the Morning Herald was ordered to attend at the bar, for misrepresenting part of the proceedings of the preceding day (Saturday). The Lord Chancellor, on this occasion, de-

On Tuesday night last, a number of men with their faces blackened, broke into the house of Denis Dannelly, of Lisnagry, in the liberties of this city, and of one M'Namara, of Sollymenny, in the same neighbourhood, violently assailed the former, and robbed both of considerable money and goods; we understand the principals are known.

On Wednesday night last, the 25th instant, an Officer's Servant brought a Forged Note of three Guineas on the Bank of Limerick, to Mrs. Uthank's, opposite the Main-Guard, he purchased some Lane Handkerchiefs, and got the remainder of the change:—Mrs. Uthank is confident, if any Gentleman of the Army finds out the circumstance, he will give her information.

On Wednesday last the Revenue Officers of Newport, lodged in the King's Stores here, two private Stills and vessels, which they seized a few nights before: one of them containing 750 gallons, was detected at full work in the Copper Mine Mountain, near that Village. It is but justice to say that this service was completed by the assistance of a detachment of the Queda and Acra Cavalry, under the command of Lieutenant John Evans, of Ashraw, whose unremitting attention to the support of the Law of their Country, deservedly entitles them to its best praise.

Yesterday Charles Coopers, Jun. Esq. Foreman of a Record Jury, gave Mr. Watson Two Guineas for the use of the Poor House.

The Business in the City Court ended this evening, and proved Maiden:—A trial for murder was going on in the County Court when this Paper went to Press.

The situation of the confined Debtors is so wretched at present, that they are obliged to throw themselves on the humanity of the Public, for some relief.—Any Charitable Benefaction, either for provisions or towards liberating them, will be thankfully acknowledged by their Treasurer, the Rev. John Hoare.—There are 13 confined in the County and City Gaols, and their starving Families are not able to relieve them.
