

England, from the Dutch ports, was even contemplation of the French Government. same means we are likewise informed, that to the departure of the vessel from Mid-it was generally understood there, a treaty had been concluded, favourable to the of the Republic; and that it was resolved, the treaty was officially communicated, to the Dutch ports to English smugglers.

Master and crew of this Prussian vessel are all known in Dover, as they were in the carrying passengers from Dover to Calais, in Calais to Dover, for some time after the re of Lord Whitworth. Their communi-are therefore implicitly credited there, and are related in a manner that precludes even of deception. We can state, however, means which Holland offers for the con-of troops are far beyond any thing that judged from an inspection of the Dutch for the number of boats, some of them ge, which the canals can pour forth as soon ree of requisition shall make its appearance, t incalculable. We know, besides, that a of vessels fit for the transport service have ed by the Dutch Government, and that in ence several merchants have, to save their , transferred their vessels to Prussians.

rs have been received from off Ferrol, both October, that the Squadron under dore Sir E. Pellew, Bart. was all well period, and consisted of the following Tonant, 84 guns, Commodore Sir E.
Impetueux, 84 guns, Capt. J. B. Martin; 74 guns, Capt. G. Martin; Spartiate; Capt. Manley; Dragon, 74 guns, Capt. and Sirius, 36 guns, Capt. Prowse; the Commodore entertained hopes the French war in Ferrol and Corunna, would, when on to blow hard, leave their lurking holes our Squadron a chance of conducting them ish ports. The French men of war now harbour of Ferrol are, l'Argonant, 84 guns; 74 le Fourgeaux, 74, and le Redomptaand in the harbour of Corunna, le Du-84; la Ravanche, 44; and la Guerriere, ere is also a Batavian ship of 74 guns, in our of Ferrol.

DUBLIN, NOVEMBER 7.

Anniversary of the birth and landing of William was on Friday commemorated with clat and an higher degree of animation some years back, the military spirit which ts of an insolent enemy has so generally ted, and the numerous and well appointed y fortes, having contributed to render the gs of the annual holiday more than com-eresting.

Women corps, Cavalry, Infantry, and Caf-ery, who rendezvoused at Stephen's-green from thence to Dawson-street, lining ge and as far as Grafton-street, some Reof the Garrison having previously taken might weaken our esteem for the best of Governments, and our loyalty to the best of Kings. The experience of ages has evinced, that the preservation of the British Government is to us the most important of public blessings, since under it public happiness is most extensively enjoyed:—it is that Constitution which has been suited to our genius, as the natural enemies of slavery, and which we shall transmit unimpaired to latest posterity.

LIMERICK, NOVEMBER 9.

A Battalion of the 28th Regt. marched from Cork on Monday last, for Fermoy.

On Saturday last an Officer's guard from the Kilkenny Militia, quartered at Clare, marched into this City, for a supply of arms, ammunition, &c.
Also, on Monday evening, detachments from Cap-Locke's Newcastle Cavalry, and Tarbert Infantry, for a like purpose.

Monday the Apollo frigate, arrived in our river; the Thunderer, of 74 guns, is also cruising at the entrance of the Shannon.

ton, Esq.

DIED.—Yesterday at his house in Newtown-Pery, aged 66 years, Francis Ryves, Esq;—he had laboured for several years under a most painful malady, which he supported throughout with true Christian fortitude and resignation, which were peculiarly conspicuous in his last illness, and to the last moment of existence;—he is most sincerely lamented by his family and numerous friends, who knew the real worth and many amiable virtues of his character.
