Yesterday the Light Brigade, commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Edrington, was reviewed by General Payne, at Loughmore; it is the opinion of the most experienced Martinets, that a better disciplined Body of Men are not to be found in Europe; their exact manœuvring, firings, &c. gave the highest satisfaction to the General, &c.

DIED.—On Sunday last at her Lodgings, in Newtown-Pery, in the bloom of life, the lovely, the accomplished Mrs. Maher, wife of John Maher, Esq;—Her numerous and respectable friends can well appreciate her virtues, and her worth,—her nearer connexions have witnessed the becoming fortitude and resignation with which she bore a lingering illness, and her husband and infant daughter will long feel the loss of one of the most amiable women; the undissembled tears of the Gentleman who shared the melancholy task of bearing her to interment, speak more loudly in her praise than any laboured panegyric, and as she lived in the hearts and the affections of all who had the happiness to know her, her death will long be remembered with the most poignant sorrow and regret.—Last night, much regretted, Mrs. Magrath, wife of Mr. Thos.
Magrath, of Ballyvarra, in this County.
