CHARLES VEREKER.

House of Commons, 5 o'Clock, June 8, 1804.

—Since I had the honor of writing to you this morning, I had a conference with Sir Charles Busby, the Chairman of the Committee on the Corn Trade, and I have great satisfaction in telling you, that he has just moved, that the Bill should be re-committed, for the purpose of leaving Ireland entirely out of the Regulations of it.—I have the honor to be, Sir, your most obedient Servant,

CHARLES VEREKER.

Gabbett, Esq.

MY DEAR SIR,

London, June 9, 1804

I received your Letter yesterday, with the Resolutions of the Merchants of Limerick inclosed; the Irish Members, perfectly aware that the proposed alterations in the British Corn Laws, (if carried into effect), would materially injure Ireland, have taken such steps, as will prevent our Country from being injured in the smallest degree.—I shall always have great pleasure in attending to any Instructions from so respectable a Body as the Merchants of Limerick.—Ever most truly your's,

Signed

WILLIAM ODELL.

J. Gabbett, Esq.

As no Letter has been received from Charles S. Oliver, Esq; one of the Members for this County, we apprehend he was not in London when the Resolutions were forwarded him.

DIED.—Sunday last, at Shannon-grove, in this County, in an advanced age, Mrs. Starr, relict of William Starr, Esq;—her death is most sincerely lamented by all who knew her.
