mon, which occupied two days, and have almost filled the entire of the English Papers of Tuesday and Wednesday—the numbers, on a division on Mr. Fox's motion for going into a Committee, were, Ayes 124—Noes 336—Majority against the Petition 212. To do justice to the different arguments adduced, in one Publication of ours, would be totally impossible, and distinct sheets it appears are objectionable—we shall therefore in the next and following Papers endeavour to give the substance of the whole, which we hope will prove interesting, and give general satisfaction.

Monday last the Yeomen Infantry of this City were inspected by their Commandant, Colonel J.
Prendergast Smyth, at the New Barracks.—Same day John Fennell, Drummer, who had been tried for Desertion, as mentioned in our last, and sentenced 100 lashes, received 50, the remainder of his punishment being remitted by Colonel Smyth.

The Public will be gratified for a few days, in seeing the surprising little Lady (Miss Sheares) who is not more than two feet high, at Mr. D. M'Ne-mara's, Nicholas-street.

The Ann, Symonds ; and the Bowman, —, from this port, have arrived, the former in the Downs, the latter off Dover.

MARRIED.—By special license, on Monday last, by the Rev. Mr. Butler, at Clonderlaw, Co. Clare, Richard Barclay, of Ballyartney, in said County, Esq; to the very amiable Miss Studdert, daughter to George Studdert, of Clonderlaw, Esq.—Same day, Mr. Patrick Hayes Woods, of Hospital, to the amiable and accomplished Miss Douhy, daughter to Mr. Mat. Douhy, of Ballyvourne, in this Co.

DIED.—On Saturday night last, at the house of the Rev. Edward Lloyd, in William-street, Mrs.
Jane Gough, aged 71 years, sister to the late Geo.
Gough of this city, Esq;—a lady whose remarkable for every amiable virtue which distinguishes her sex ; her death is consequently most sincerely lamented, by all who were honor'd with her acquaintance.—Tuesday morning, in Bridge-street, much regretted by his friends and numerous acquaintance, Mr. John Carroll, Professor of Classical Learning.
