From this it will be seen at what a low ebb the commerce of France and Spain must have sunk, not a single French vessel being included in the above list, and only one solitary Spanish! The trade of Great Britain to the North of Europe, on the contrary, amounts to upwards of one-third of the whole.

DUBLIN, FEB. 12.

REPEAL OF THE UNION.

This day, a numerous Meeting of the Corporation of Stationers, &c. took place at their Hall, in Capel-street, when a Committee of nine were appointed to frame Resolutions for a Petition to Parliament for a Repeal of the Act of Union.—The Committee are to report the Resolutions on Tuesday next, when the Corporation are again to meet.

We have the pleasure to hear that Major-Gen. George Cockburne, of Rutland-square, has been placed on the staff of the army.

Friday the Term Grand Jury of the city of Dublin, waited on his Excellency the Earl of Hardwicke, at the Castle, when the Foreman, Alderman Alexander, presented his Excellency with a very respectful address from that respectable body, expressive of their regret at his intended departure from the Chief Government of this country; to which his Excellency returned an appropriate and elegant answer.

We (Even. Herald) are authorised to contradict the marriage of Mr. Moloney, to Miss Webb; and Mr. B. Maguire, to Miss C. Webb, of Aughran-street.

LIMERICK, FEBRUARY 14, 1806.

We are happy to announce to our readers that the new Administration is actually sworn in: an Administration composed of characters the most conspicuous for political judgement and splendor of abilities, from whose combined and well-directed exertions every thing desirable and necessary to the safety and even the dignity of these kingdoms is to be expected. The Era of illusive and sophistical policy, has, we hope, fully expired. An Era productive of cowardice and distrust, that damped the spirit of individuals and sapped the energy of the nation. Under the present Administration, who seem to possess the most unbounded confidence of the people, we fondly augur better times.

From the decided manner in which that able and comprehensive statesman Mr. Fox, so strongly stigmatized the Act of Union, this country may entertain the fond hope, that England will generously restore to her, her original and native dignity, which, and which only can be regenerative of that ardour and creative of that spirit and affection which her Sons have ever evinced, and sealed with their blood in fighting the battles of Britain.

The disinterestedness of Mr. Grattan, in not accepting the high situation offered him by the new Administration, is truly admirable. This Great Man wishes not to be involved in any office that may encumber him, but to keep himself ever disengaged and ready to stand forward the Champion, and avowed Asserter of the Rights of the People.

The Earl of Limerick, from this port, passed by Gravesend on the 7th inst.

Ship Speedwell, which lay almost alongside the Britannia, as well as her papers and several other articles of considerable value. This terrible accident is attributed to the careless management of a candle in the magazine, where the Maté and some of the people were filling powder.

[Cork Mercantile Chronicle, Feb. 12.]

The Editor feels extremely thankful to his steady friend N. O. P. for having turned him in his thoughts; but should be much more happy that he would continue his attention to his Sun-Dials, Barometers, Telescopes, and Conductors, than to the line of conduct which is deemed necessary for 'The Limerick Gazette' to pursue.

A VALENTINE TO JULIA.

To greet the new-born, blooming year,
 What vary'd flow'ry sweets appear;
 The little birds begin to sing,
 And Nature smiles to welcome Spring.

Yet these, dear Julia, soon decay—
 The songsters on the leafy spray
 Will silent sit, nor heed the year,
 Nor sweetly vary'd flowers appear.

Inconstant these—but I will prove
 Exemplar of unchanging love:
 Entwine my faithful heart with thine,
 And ever be thy VALENTINE.

MARRIAGES.

At Boyle, County Roscommon, Captain W. M. Twiss, of the Kerry Regt. to the lovely Miss Crosbie, daughter of James Crosbie, Esq. M. P. for the County of Kerry, and Colonel of the Militia of that County.

DEATHS.

With deep sorrow we inform our readers that at 2 o'clock on Tuesday last, died at his house in George's-street, John Flattley, Esq. of the house of Flattley, O'Kelly & Co. of this City, and Lieutenant in Captain Fosbery's Corps of Yeomanry.—This Gentleman is justly and universally regretted; he is a very severe loss to the poor and indigent;—his character as a Merchant was promptitude and integrity; as an acquaintance, politeness and suavity;—his hospitality was liberal and dignified—his information was comprehensive and various—his gait peculiar—his wit spontaneous—and his friendship confidential and unbounded.

The remains of this Gentleman were taken to Drumbonev near this city; for interment, on Thursday morning. The procession was most respectable and numerous.

Last Wednesday night, in William-street, much regretted, Mrs. M'Knight, relict of the late Dr. M'Knight, of this city On Sunday last, in Waterford, Mr. Wm. Moxsom, sincerely and deservedly regretted.

Friday last, by the bursting of a blood vessel, at his mother's house on Merchant's-quay, Cork, Thomas Stubbman, Esq.
