It has been made for some days, and most respectable quar- ters of the Commissioners are of opinion, for which, on the slightest foundation, they are rejoiced to find that the Government shrinks not from submitting it in the strictest manner to the public, whose glance and approbation of the most able men to withstand, the Government of that purity Her Royal Highness has ever since this im-

His object was to enable the Grand Juries to raise a further sum than what they were empowered to do under the acts 11 and 20 Geo. III. for making provision for the poor, and assisting Houses of Industry. He proposed that the poorer classes of housekeepers should be exempted from the rate, and that means should be taken for procuring regular returns of the revenue and expenditure of hospitals, and for the better auditing their accounts.

Mr. Foster objected to bring forward a Bill of this kind at so late a time of the session, and when so many Irish Members were absent. This he called a new mode of legislation, which had been lately adopted by the Right Hon. Bart.

Sir J. Newport said, that there was as great a proportion of Irish Members in the House yesterday, as was usually to be found during the session. The Hon. Member's objection, therefore, was of no force.

Mr. Foster explained. Mr. Wellesley Pole wished that time should be given for Irish Members to consult their constituents on the subject.

Colonel Bagwell represented the situation of the poor in Ireland as requiring immediate attention, and calling for the immediate interference of the Legislature.—Leave was then granted.

Various changes in the Administration are spoken of.—One report states that Lord Howick is to go out to India as Governor General, and to be succeeded at the Admiralty by Lord St. Vincent.—Another states that Lord Howick is to be Chancellor of the Exchequer; Lord H. Petty to succeed Earl Temple in the Army Pay Office; and Earl Temple to go to the India Board. A third rumour states, that Lord H. Petty goes to India, as Governor General. We notice these reports merely as topics of rumour, without attaching much credit to them, but we think it not improbable that some partial change in Administration may be in contemplation.

We understand that a presentment was yesterday made to the Grand Jury at Westminster, of a public defaulter, who is charged only in the small deficiency of 80,000*l*.

Yesterday a foreigner of distinction was charged in execution in the Exchequer for 20,000*l*.
