boatman named Roberts, went in on an excursion down the river, Sunday last. They were retur-dock in the evening, and were ing to make George's Dock Basin, and violent squall came on while a stay ; the boatman, terrified at nger, and intent only on his own

We hear from Tullamore, that a very disagreeable occurrence had taken place between the troops there, in consequence of which some lives were lost ; hoping the report may be exaggerated, we forbear at present to state the particulars, as received, until founded on more substantial authority.

Last Monday afternoon, a Serjeant on the recruiting service in this city, actually swallowed 54 raw eggs, most of them with the shells, in presence of a number of spectators, for the purpose, as he asserted, of clearing his voice, intending to bleat that evening for some recruits.

A Lady has, it seems, recently eloped from near London with a Goachman. A thousand jokes have been made at the expence of the fair one, her friends, and her gallant. They have talked of her getting the start, and the whip-hand of her pursuers ; but the Lady herself is said to have returned, and to have confessed, that she had gone to the wrong box.

The feathered tribe are variously patronized—Gamsters pay their adoration to a pigeon—Young Ladies sigh with the gentle dove—and the jovial Citizen thinks nothing comparable to a fine swallow.

The Almanack-makers say that St. Swithin, who is so fond of weeping, was once a Crier in the King's Bench.

According to the laws of England, a bastard is the son of Nobody ; but the mother always contrives to father it on Somebody.

Progress of Smoking. It appears from accounts on the table of the House of Commons, that the quantity of tobacco retained in this country, for home consumption, has been doubled within 20 years. In 1786 the quantity retained was 6,846,606 lb ; in 1805 it was 12,656,471 lb.

A few days since, a field preacher, who had been a printer, observed, in his nasal harangue, “ that youth might be compared to a comma ; manhood to a semicolon ; old age to a colon ; to which death puts a period.”

ON WEEDING.

This operation is of so much importance, in agriculture, that it well deserves to be treated as a separate branch of improvement ; at the same time, it is so much attended to in East Lothian, as to merit particular notice in a survey of that country. The clearing of the lands from weeds is so essential to good husbandry, that, if it be neglected, we may safely pronounce it impossible to carry on any other operation to advantage.— The farmer who does not clean his land can never reap good crops from it, never so good, at least as he might obtain. He may bestow plenty of manure, and he may reduce his ground to a fine mould, in order that his plants may readily extend their roots in search of the nourishment which he provides for them, but every weed left in the soil must take so much from the artificial plants which it is his object to rear. The natural inhabitants of the soil will have the full share of every benefit bestowed, if the strangers placed among them should starve. The manure bestowed, in such circumstances, may be regarded as in a great measure thrown away ; one half of it would unquestionably produce greater effect if enjoyed exclusively by the useful plants. In truth, it not unfrequently happens, that very rich fields, overgrown with weeds, yield much worse crops than

Mr. Dyas, who some time since shot Mr. B.
Tandy in a duel, near Kells, will, we understand, abide his trial at the next Assizes for the county Meath.

Upwards of twenty years ago a lady, well known in the fashionable circles, was distinguished by the appellation of “ Fair Fat and Forty,” since then the newspapers have mischievously called her “ the Grandmother of Love.”
