Last night, between the hours of nine and ten o'clock, there were several claps of Thunder, accompanied with lightning and heavy showers of rain.

On Saturday, Colonel Matthews assembled the six companies of his regiment, which meet in Hereford, for the purpose of submitting to them the new regulations. After a clear and manly speech from the Colonel, he desired all who wished to secede, to order arms; when five men only did so, and one has since returned.

On the night of the 18th inst. about 12 o'clock, the house at Coleville, within a quarter of a mile of Clonmel, in the possession of Mr. William Harvey, was maliciously set on fire, and the persons who were in it, two servants of his, with great difficulty made their escape, the burning lofts nearly falling on them, being the first notice they had of their danger. A detached out-office, and a large rick of hay adjoining it, at a short distance from the house, were set on fire at the same time —and the whole, with a considerable quantity of furniture, and other valuable articles in the dwelling house, were totally consumed.

The merchants and traders of Waterford, convincted of the honest and unremitting zeal which the Irish Chancellor of the Exchequer invariably manifests in the service of his country, and anxious to testify their gratitude and approbation, by every possible mark of respect, gave him a splendid entertainment on Thursday at their Commercial Buildings. Samuel King, Esq. chairman of the body, presided on the occasion. Many well-deserved compliments were paid to Sir John Newport, a number of appropriate toasts given, and the evening concluded with the utmost cheerfulness and harmony.

James Crosbie, Esq. one of the present representatives in parliament for the county of Kerry, has addressed the freeholders of that county, for their support at the next general election.

Wednesday, a cause was tried by a special jury, in the city court, Cork, of considerable expectation. It was an action brought by Edward Meany, Esq. against Bernard Shaw, Esq. to recover the value of eighty-eight chests of tea, which were seized, as not having paid the necessary duties, by Mr. Shaw, in the capacity of collector of that port. Under the direction of the court, the jury found a verdict for the plaintiff, for the value of five chests of tea, by which the right of seizure of the remaining 83 was established.

A Meeting of the Governors and Governesses of the County of Limerick Hospital, is requested at 12 o'clock, on Saturday next. A full meeting is requested.

Cork, Aug. 21 —Our Theatre was opened on Monday evening, with part of the Dublin Company, the prolongation of the after season in Dublin, demanding the attendance of the remaining part —The novelties of this season are Mr. El-liston and Mrs. H. Johnson. The former made his debut in the part of Octavian in the Mountaineers, and the latter in Juliana, in the delightful Comedy of the Honey Moon — The reputation which Mr. Elliston has very justly acquired in the London Theatres, prepared the audience to expect much, and we are well convinced that on his appearance, their highest expectations have been answered if not exceeded.
 The wild irregularity of Octavian was finely conceived, and most boldly expressed, displaying all the master of the art, and, controuling and directing the passions of his auditors as madness, love or grief become the subject of the scene.— The Comedy of last night afforded him a fresh opportunity to display the versatility of his talents in the Duke, and the fascinating Mrs. H. Johnson, with the sweetest simplicity of expression, and a form turned by the Graces, was rapturous-ly received in the part of Juliana, Mr. Talbot, (who has most judiciously been appointed to the management of the Stage) was received with that warm and cordial approbation which he has ensured to himself in this city, the whimsicalities of the part he supported, require no common conception
