

crime was about to be committed in the Dene South: thousands of victims were on the sacrificed to the suspicion, or the ferocity salines. General Moreau and the Inspector were the Ministers charged with the execunginary orders in the quarters of Des Cayes. ady employed in taking measures for execu-being detected in their abominable projects arrested by order of the brave Onagnac.— of the town of Des Cayes, finding support Chief and his troops, rose en masse, and themselves in their hands.

is Yenne, informed of the movements which e town of Des Cayes, appeared in the midst lizens, confirmed them in their noble reso-parted to propose in his division those sub-which were to ensure the triumph of innoive, address his companions in arms, and to to adopt his sentiments, were for him only moment.

of War, apprised by the Colonel of the dis-inhabitants and troops, although ill, quitted himself at the head of this holy insurrection. followed him, and his zeal was well rewaritude of his fellow-citizens. Soon after, and Vaval followed his generous example—also conducted himself with great propriety formed all his dispositions, the Minister set a-Veau, with the 15th and 16th demi-briced towards Mirajouac. On the next day, sation with General Gayon, who was en-Gauve, and finding him favourable to his ing was agreed upon; but still the General clude any thing until the arrival of General ose sentiments he was previously acquainted , and all the troops of this division, were e inclination. General Ambrose, though , and scarcely able to stand, repaired, not-eogane, on the first intelligence of these order to be able to confer with Gen. Pétion he was to take. They scarcely met when at noon, General Pétion arrived at Little was received by the army with the enthu-The two divisions having joined, mardeave, where General Germain waited for wing been surrounded, he affected to decide out it was soon perceived that he only wished y we proceeded to Leogane, and the next e 11th, 12th, 15th, 16th, 21st, and 24th nd three squadrons of dragoons, we were o'clock, of Port-au-Prince. f General Germain becoming more suspici-ing entertained that he would escape by sted.

we were apprised by a traveller of the appion of the 3d, from Archaye, and form-guard of Dessalines. Every thing was reception. They arrived and surrendered resistance, in consequence of the vigorous by General Gayon.

om the Soldiers and Planters of the plain me at midnight to declare to Gen. Pétion, eir constituents, that the deaths of Dessal-n were necessary for the preservation of holders were resolved to do their duty; ould take care of the plain; and that they age to keep the tyrant ignorant of the l was necessary to adopt against him. ords; Dessalines crossed the plain without ation from any one of the disposition of went confirms the observation, that tyrants flatterers, but no friends.

o was ignorant of this, and who had not of our arrival at Port-au-Prince, pursued the most perfect security. At eight in the acked our advanced posts without perceiv-s only when they proceeded to arrest him, he was not in the midst of his friends.— red to escape, and in the attempt received at an end to his life and his crimes. Col-shed to defend him, also fell on this occaneral regret. On the part of the enemy few persons wounded; our loss was one operations of the army. Four days were it with perfect success.

ION, Minister of War and Marine.
TION, General Commandant of the 2d Division of the West.

ort-au-Prince, OG. 17, 1806.

sion. He would repeat what he had set out with saying, that such notice should be fixing the regularity of their Lordships' proceedings.

Lord Eldon was so far from wishing for unnecessary delay, that he stated eighteen months ago that it was on many accounts advisable the question should be brought to an immediate decision.
He wished to know whether it was only the African Slave Trade, or the Trade in general which it was meant to abolish?

His Royal Highness the Duke of Clarence said, that he did intend to have opposed the first reading; but, since that had taken place, he thought the motion for printing should pass as a matter of course. His sentiments, however, with respect to the measure, continued the same as they had always been.

The Bill was ordered to be printed.

The negotiation with France was yesterday debated in the House of Lords. Lord Grenville moved the following address, which was carried without a dissentient voice:

“To assure his Majesty that we have seen with gratitude the endeavours employed by his Majesty for the restoration of general tranquility on terms consistent with the interests and honour of his people, and with that inviolable good faith towards our allies, by which the conduct of this country has always been distinguished: that while we lament that these endeavours have been unfortunately frustrated by the ambition and injustice of the enemy, we assure your Majesty that the most effectual means in our power will be supplied, to enable your Majesty, unless such terms of peace are obtained as we have already described, to maintain unimpaired the dignity of your Crown, and the independence and interests of your people.”

DUBLIN—JANUARY 7.

Mr. Shaw has caused notice to be served upon the Petitioning Electors against his return, that he means to proceed upon the examination of witnesses in this city, pursuant to the statute, previous to the inquiry of the Committee to be appointed by the House of Commons for that purpose.

The Weavers at their last Quarter Day; which was very numerously attended, came to a unanimous resolution to present a congratulatory address to Mr. Shaw, on his re-election, together with the freedom of their respectable Corporation.

Yesterday morning two companies of the 7th Foot, lately arrived from Liverpool, marched from hence for Newry. The remainder of the regiment will immediately follow.

The 27th, or Enniskillen regiment of Infantry, marched into Belfast on Thursday from Donaghadee, where they had landed from Scotland.

Sunday se'night, the remains of a young woman was taken out of the Canal, near Harold's-Cross, with her throat cut. We hear she was seen walking with a young man that morning, who has not been heard of since.

On Saturday last a child of about eight years of age, while playing near the fire, in one of the cabins on Newtown road, near Waterford, its clothes attracted the blaze, by which it was so dreadfully burnt, that it died the following evening.

Eng. Stocks. 3 per cent. Cons. (Jan. 3) 59 $\frac{1}{2}$

Irish Stocks. G. Deb. 5 per cent. (Jan. 7) 93 $\frac{1}{2}$ Exch. Dublin on London (Jan. 5) 11 $\frac{1}{2}$ will not be much diminished even by the laying a countervailing duty on the exportation of raw hides from Ireland to England. The late Mr. Pitt saw the inconvenience that the former attempt persisted in would occasion, and he discouraged it at that time. The present state of the Continent denies Ireland altogether her supplies of Foreign bark; if she lose the English bark, she cannot manufacture leather. A number of people must be ruined, the Excise duties paid now by the Irish tanners must be visited upon other subjects of consumption, and the English tanner will have a monopoly of the manufactured leather consumed in Ireland. We hope some more mature Statesman than Lord Temple may take this subject into consideration—they will see that this is no time for setting up English monopoly, and adding to Irish beggary—they had better invert the policy, and try what effect that may have.

On Saturday night last, the Right Hon. Lord Poussouby sailed for England.

The General Advertiser.

LIMERICK, JANUARY 9.

In our last we intimated the disappearance of Mr. David O'Brien, who was missing Sunday night last, and are now sorry to mention the cause—namely, that he was robbed and murdered on Raal's Bridge, at so early an hour as about ten o'clock that night. Such an atrocious act, such a foul and daring deed, committed in the heart of the third City in the kingdom, is a most extraordinary circumstance, and calls loudly for vigilance in our Police.—The person whose unhappy fate we record, was a most harmless and inoffensive young man, an only son to a respectable fellow-citizen, who is now confined to his bed, without hopes of recovery.—We are happy to state, that several of this banditti are taken into custody and the most unequivocal proof against some of them, so that offended justice will soon overtake the deluded and desperate wretches who have had neither the fear of God or Man before their eyes.

The desperate gang, that committed the morder on Sunday night last, have long infested this City, but thanks to the exertions of Thomas F.
Wilkinson, Esq. and Mr. Sheriff Carroll, for their exertions in apprehending those already taken, and breaking this knot of plunderers—and we have every reason to hope that the principal part of the remainder will be secured before many days, and meet the fate, in due time, which they so justly deserve.

With feelings of unfeigned sorrow and regret, we undertake the painful task of announcing a most fatal and lamentable catastrophe which occurred in Dingle on the night of Friday last:— Miss Catherine Moriarty, daughter of Mathew Moriarty, Esq. of that town, having been for some time past distracted in mind, in consequence of a violent fever on the brain, contrived to elude the vigilance of her nurse-tenders, and having escaped thro' the window about 11 o'clock at night, drowned herself in the river, at the spot where it empties itself into that harbour.—The body was not found until 7 o'clock next morning.

His Majesty's ship Alcmena, Captain Brisbane, arrived on Wednesday morning at Cove, from a cruise, with the Courier privateer cutter, from St. Maloes, of 7 guns and 72 men, which she captured off Cape Clear.