 The valuable Island of Curacoa, small, is of very great importance on ac-its situation, and the safe, strong, and harbour which it contains; the best, exception, in the whole West Indies.— extensive track of the Spanish coast, from of the Caraccas to the Isthmus of Pana-under the reach of this island, which moreover, this advantage, that it is but of of the hurricanes. The exports from to it, previous to the first of the late rein the Mother Country, amounted, annis, to half a million sterling.
 Curacoa has always been of great importance Dutch, who have been very zealous to pre-it, and to extend its commerce; many years the Dutch West India Company refused to it for the Spanish Island of Porto Rico. situation of this island is of great impornotwithstanding it lies to the leeward of West India islands, a good sailing vessel may up to St. Thomas's, on any of the adjacent on the other side. It commands the islands ward of it, or such as may be reached with wind, viz. Porto Rico, Cuba, St. Domin-Jamaica. This small spot is, in every a perfect military situation. commerce formerly took up yearly about ships, each, on an average 300 tons, annual quantity shipped from Holland yearly to near 500,000l. the returns double that sum. The exports from Hol-consisted of German and Dutch linens and East India goods, woollen and cotton cloths, spices, ironmongery, building mate-&c. and many other articles for the ease and of the inhabitants and Spaniards. The to Europe are indigo, coffee, sugar, hides, dye wood, tortoiseshell, verinas, and Rico Tobacco, and sometime cochineal; all of necessity and value.
 This island contains a population of about 20 Whites and 10,000 Blacks and Mulattoes, population not to be found in any of the other India Islands.

LIMERICK, FEBRUARY 10.

The body of Mr. David O'Brien, of this city, missing has been taken up a few days ago, 40 miles down the river; he has no marks on him, and his watch, pocket-book, other articles, were found with him, which a supposition that he was not murdered, we most sincerely hope will be confirmed request to be held on him, and which is de-until the arrival of those who were present the body was found. The Worshipful R.
 Mayor, with his usual vigilance, is using exertion to investigate this affair so com-as to leave no doubt as to the cause of O'Brien's death, which we again express our was merely accidental.

Yesterday, the yeomanry corps of this city, Capt. Wilkinson's corps of volunteers, were inspected by Brigade-Major Harding, who was highly pleased with their martial appearance, discipline, &c. &c.

 together with a quantity of grain contained therein.—A reward has been offered by Messrs. Guinness, and by some of the most respectable characters of the county in which this daring act was committed, in The Advertiser of this day, for the ing.—The Public will not be gratified by hearing her extraordinary powers before Monday next, in consequence of this being Passion Week.

TO THE AUTHOR OF THE NOSEGAY.

To dress up your nosegay some flowers you've cull'd, Which, since Adam was Gard'ner, no Gard'ner e'er pulled,
 Except for a flow'r pot—and trust me 'twas stupid,
 To charge such a various collection on Cupid:— For tho' some you've defin'd that exalt vegetation, Adorne, irradiate, and cheer the creation;
 Yet some have escaped the too hasty selection,
 That touch to the soul philosophic affection.

Of congenial transcendence a HYACINTH blows, In the same bed at Woods-down, where you found THE NOSE,
 THE LITTLE AURICULA, now at Neugarden, Was for grace and true symmetry, worth your recording,
 And there is AN EGLANTINE, worth half your stock, That grows at Rock-lodge—on the top of the rock—But would you set going men's hearts pitty patty, Oh! shew them the TUBEROSE that sprung at Bynratty!!!

AN ANNACOTTY GARDENER.

P. S.—I much doubt whether Cupid was at all in Limerick at the time, and on the occasion you mention—most certainly he did not go this road, for I rather think he would not pass me by without a call.
