

OF THE LIMERICK GAZETTE.

pleased with the sensible effusions Correspondent in your last Paper, taking my hint to exhibit a bundle ables, for the purpose of forming a soil to the Limerick Nosegay.— in opinion with me in some partithink our ideas are congenial in the f the subject; for I am of opinion, e in either sex, is one of the first sary to render our passage thro' life rtable. But, to the point in questivise a good selection of appropriate ink the shrubbery may supply maason more befitting the subject than ac for a fop, the weeping willow ain, and sweet briar, for those hea ball with spurs on; to the great the ladies trains; and by way of a she may introduce a female of the sensitivity, calling her Venus's fly- whose leaves, if a fly should alight close up instantly and crush to esumptuous admirer. All this and me idea of stringing together (for I ne if I took the trouble of it), but so well disposed for the task, I ander of my mite towards the offerest the fair writer will be more at-harmony of her numbers than in n, as I should be gratified in seeing ove the power of a critical sneer.

n much surprised at the observation y Gardener that he doubted Cupid's that day—surely the Gardener most sighted to doubt the fact, for Lime-ode of Cupid all the winter at least, e summer, unless now and then the ould get bilious from late hours and ce on the Graces and thereby require small waters to recruit his strength his arrows; tho' on consideration to believe that gold is the best for rows, as it is mostly at that metal he a days.—Limerick, Feb. 12.

namuck, in this county.—At the Cathedral, Mr.
William Barry, Accomptant, to Miss Enscoe, daughter of Mr. R. Enscoe, of Mary-street.

DIED.—On Wednesday evening, at Plover-hill, near this city, in the bloom of youth, Miss Susannah Parker, daughter of the Rev. John Parker—to a pure and cultivated mind; were united in an eminent degree, an ease and affability of manners, which endeared her to all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance, and makes her an irreparable loss to her parents.—A few days ago, at Ballynoe, co. Kerry, Mrs.
Pierce, wife to Daniel Pierce, Esq; and in Dingle, Samuel Seely, Esq.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

We are sorry we cannot insert the lines mentioning more flowers in this city—as they could be only revised, by being remade, and we keep no Poet in our employ. This answer may serve for other matters, which we have not inserted.

NOTICE.

THERE will be a Fair (toll free) held on Thursday the 26th day of February, at Patrick's Well, in the county of Limerick.—A field of 36 Acres with excellent grass will be appropriated on the night of the Fair, to the use of the Buyers.

Patrick's-Well is situated within four miles and an half of the city of Limerick, on the road to Adare and Rathkeale, in the middle of a rich feeding country, from which circumstance, as also from the many promises Mr. ROSE has received from his friends, he expects that there will be a very great shew of all kinds of Cattle, and therefore conceives that Vizuallers and Buyers will find it their interest to attend.
