

the other, the arms of Richmond, with sprigs of the Shamrock interspersed.

The third room was laid out for refreshments, and his Grace's gold plate had a magnificent effect.

At half past one the supper rooms were thrown open, where every luxury in profusion was displayed with superior taste, and the grandeur and elegance of the plate and uncommon brilliancy of the lights, and of the whole scene, attracted universal admiration.

After supper his Majesty's health being drank, the fine band of the Tipperary regiment playing God save the King, the company retired to the ball-room, where the dancing re-commenced, and was kept up till five in the morning.

THE GENERAL ADVERTISER.

LIMERICK—DECEMBER 18, 1807.

The collection received at the Charity Sermon, on Sunday last, at St. Michael's Chapel, we feel pleasure in stating, amounted to 150*l.* 3*s.* 5*d.* a sum far greater than we have witnessed for some years past. We congratulate our fellow-citizens on the occasion for this liberal display of charity and beneficence, and we take a pride in observing among our Roman Catholic brethren, a Divine, in so eminent a degree capable of searching the hearts as well as purses of the respectable and enlightened congregation that thronged to his excellent discourse—a Sermon which for pathos, nerve, clearness, and elegant simplicity, has been seldom surpassed, at least in our recollection. It is indeed a fact, that numbers who were present on Sunday last, had their best feelings of humanity so warmly drawn forth, as to have been induced to contribute more than they had originally intended. The distinguished characters who were forward in their services on that day have already received the meed of public acknowledgments, in which we cheerfully include our thanks to many private gentlemen, (and amongst them Mr. Edward Lynch, the Treasurer) who, though less conspicuous, were equal in their zeal in promoting the cause of charity in this most laudable institution.

J. M. Northey, Esq. of the royal navy, is appointed regulating captain at this port, in the room of the late Captain Warburton, and has taken the command of his district.

His Lordship the Bishop of Waterford, with a discrimination which reflects much honour on himself, has appointed William Lane, Esq. Barrister, to be Vicar-general of the diocese of Waterford and Lismore, in the room of the late Robert Dobbys, Esq. deceased.

A CASE OF SINGULAR DISTRESS!!

A poor Widow, named LYNCH, died last Tuesday night, certainly of cold, hunger, or extreme want, or of all together, in one of the vaults in Ellen-street, and has left behind SIX ORPHANS, (five children and one grandchild) without a known friend or relative on earth.

You charitable citizens of Limerick, become their parents—make some little provision or fund for them, else they must also immediately perish.—The smallest benefactions will be thankfully received for them by A. Mac Donnell, City Arms; the Rev. Clergymen of the city, the Rev. Dean O'Flin, and by James Ryan, Patrick-street.

For the above six orphans, the following donations have already been received:—

pasture and clipped. Their intestines were afterwards taken out and carried off.

The marriage of Lieut M'Kenna to Miss Hill, as stated in our last, is contradicted by a letter which we received this morning from one of the party.

Our authority for its insertion was a letter from Rathkeal, signed "Thomas Shelton."
