or seven years.—James Stack and Andrew receiving stolen goods, to be imprisoned 18 three times publicly whipped, & to give bail.
Michael Murphy and Michael Mulvihill, opposite the Gaol. They both acknowmission of the crimes for which they sufthey made the following confession:—The last, (Palm Sunday) I went out on the company by Stapleton, with an intent to robbery, when, unfortunately, the first man Mr. Tisdall, who I knew had a considerable about him, and whom we agreed to rob; I used a determined resistance to Stapleton, kicked him, and not being able to accomplish in any other manner, it was determined, our first intention, to murder him, upon I struck him with the butt end of a musket, the which broke his skull, after which they killed him. He also acknowledged that about 20 I cut off a woman's breast, in consequence of and in two days after. Murphy was 51 years old.

We are much indebted to Mr. Philip Russell, for his industry and perseverance in removing a nuisance of general injury: we mean the vegetable market custom permitted on Bial's Bridge, it is a spacious, convenient situation, on George's road to John's-street, which was hitherto occupied by this judicious alteration, is free from inconvenience.—Mr. Russell has, in a great measure, supplanted the shameful practice of selling vegetables on the bridge, which, no doubt, would be effectually prevented, and others were paid their wages for the day.

Michael Grady, head gardener at Belmont, has been appointed Post Master of Castle Connell, and has erected a neat and commodious Post Office at the end of Belmont, opposite the Church; and as the road connecting the Post Office with the main road, will be finished this season, the Public

DIED.—At his house in South Earl-Street, Dublin, James Hart, Esq. Attorney.—At Boyle, on the 28th ult.
Captain and Adjutant William Perry, of the Clare Militia, whose extensive and well-applied military talents and amiable qualities rendered him an object of esteem, not only to his brother officers and circle of his acquaintance, but to every individual of the regiment, which has been fully evinced by the unanimous resolution of the privates and non-commissioned officers to erect a monument to his memory, as a lasting proof of their gratitude and love for the services he was constantly in the habit of conferring upon them, and to record his benevolence in the solicitude he ever manifested for the welfare of the regiment. It is almost superfluous to add, that the relative duties of husband, parent, &c. he fulfilled in a manner the most praise-worthy.—At the Meetings, near Rathdrum, Co. Wicklow, Capt. James Fawcett, of the Co.
Dublin Militia.—At Nenagh, John Meagher, Sen. Esq.
