The Permanent Serjeants will have the Grace commanding, or Adjutant of the Yeomanry Brigade, of this City, a correct list as by the above order, on Sunday next, the 27th Inst.

As his Grace the Lord Lieutenant will inspect the Limerick brigade of Yeomanry; the permanent Serjeants will represent to their Officers, the necessity of having the new clothing made by the 5th of next month, for Last week, Gen. Dunne inspected a very fine Brigade of Yeomanry, at Tullamore, consisting of the Clara, Ballycumber, Ballykeane, Philipstown, and Tullamore corps, the whole under the command of the Earl of Charleville:—Notwithstanding the weather was unfavorable, the Brigade went through a variety of manoeuvres so much to the satisfaction of the General, that he was pleased to express his approbation in the warmest terms of the attention of Brigade Major Warburton, and the Officers commanding, through whose exertions they have attained so high a state of discipline.

A General Court Martial was lately held at Dublin, tried by a General Court Martial at Camatra, in Portugal, for using most abusive and opprobrious language towards his superior officer, Capt. Lightfoot, when commanding the picquet, for which he has been likewise sentenced to be cashiered.

Lodging is left by one family, it is occupied by another
