

OF AFFAIRS IN FRANCE.

are indifferent to peace on the Continent; that the Continent cannot be disatisfied with the conscriptions wrest from them their children and Numbers of tradesmen of every degree to stop their trade for many months, their workmen being ordered to join the Frenchman who dare speak but constitute a nation of Bonaparte—not one the ruin of his country.

The French army are cut off. The battles were scarcely read, knowing from the public, and every officer that offended at the disgusting account, and should be put to every figure of the dead, to bring it any thing near the truth. With disgust the numerous maimed of their country, and whenever they observed to the army, always said they were gored.

great article of commerce in France; and no means to sell his wheat prevent his rent, and as labour is very high.

France are conducted from the extreme in a disgusting and degrading manner; Masters of merchantmen, in general drove shipwreck, or taken by privateers, were the interior, amongst a people who had of the calamities and distresses of war, hard of men whose duty made them by and hard.

greatest importance is at present under the Court of Exchequer. The question is, individual without exception, through public money usually passes, is to be accountable to the King, and consequently the same provisions as those who are special Accountants, in the Statute of the 13th This act enumerates a variety of public property of every description possessed at entering into responsibility, or subsequently rendered liable for their debts to the Crown and that property may have passed.—therefore, constitute, in effect, mortgages rates, which must be satisfied in preference of heirs, purchasers, &c.

at Williams contended for the doctrine, as to the Crown, of whatever description, common Law considered as Bound in the and that the statute was chiefly declaratory, on the other hand, maintained, the persons having the charge of public to be considered as Accountants, or liable of the statute, except those specially the act.

Chief Baron adverted to the consequences from the doctrine of Mr. Serjeant Wilking the immense multitude engaged in an disbursement of the revenue, the expense in titles which its establishment would. The consequences were in fact, such the imagination in looking at them. In a importance, a decision he said, could not before the next Term, till which time the postpone giving judgment.

This morning, Mr. Philip Russell, Clerk of the Market, seized three large Bags of Wheat for being fraudulently made up. They were condemned by the Mayor as prescribed by the Statute, and his Worship ordered them for the House of Industry.

Yesterday at a meeting of the Humane Society, they voted Rewards to the following Persons, James Fitzgerald, James Hewitt, Daniel Dixon, Michael Culligan, Michael O'Connor and John Driscoll, for having been lately instrumental in saving from Drowning in our River, James Doogan, Connor M'Mahon, John Blake, and Patrick Quinian, respectively.
