...Institution lately established for the relief of the Poor of this City. Mr. Evans has frequently, in the most liberal manner, remitted large Sums for public and private Charities, which have been announced in this Chronicle.—It is to be hoped, that this charitable and liberal act of a Gentleman, not having any other know- ledge of the Institution, more than was published in this Paper, will have the effect of stimulating others, who being upon the spot, may inform themselves of the very many miserable objects that have been relieved within one month by the laudable attention which the Visitors of the Poor have so humanely paid, and this at a very in- considerable expense, owing to the economy that it was necessary to observe, until it is known how far such Establishment will meet with support from the affluent residents of the place.

The General Committee, for the relief of the Poor and Indigent, meet at the Dispensary, on Monday, 5th November, at 12 o'Clock.
