Nov. 21.—Through the medium of a agent we have received the following account outrage committed by those deluded men stylselves Caravats:—The house of Mr. O'Ryan, urkeen, was attacked on Sunday morning, at 11. Except Mrs. O'Ryan and one female ser-remainder of the family were at Mass.—The being incautiously left open, three men well armed, and proceeded directly to the parlour, s. O'Ryan was, and threatened her with in-if she made the least noise or resistance, and ve up what fire arms were in the house; she she did not know where they were, offering e same time, the keys of the house to search upon which they left the room, breaking open vers, saying they would not lose time in trying them—they likewise forced open some desks s, which, while doing, Mrs. O'Ryan went house and ran up the avenue, calling loudly ice, which, when the Caravats heard, they er and forced her back, one of them holding o her mouth, to prevent her from crying out; er clothes in forcing her back, swearing they ot her, which one of them was about to do, ented by another. They then searched the e closely, when they found a case of pistols powder and ball, the rest being removed from e a few days before, and sent to be repaired, vented them from falling into the hands of ans. They then went off in different direc-en going, they said they were from the county ck, and that they would return again, as they e were more arms in the house.

...scarce a night passes without some outrage committed in that neighbourhood—even in the the unfortunate strange workmen are cruelly mangled. A full hour before dusk they be-there, and keep it up during the greatest part of the night.
