

this case—the first is, to bring the facts in shape may be thought adviseable, before of Commons. The second, to have the investigated in a Court of Law, and dis- by the verdict of a jury. That the law, ista, insufficiently strong to punish the lity of the crime, there can be no doubt; before move, that our Secretary, Mr. E. een a subscription, for the purpose of de- xpense of having the matter fully inves- ad that a Select Committee, consisting of pointed to enquire into the truth of the to report to the General Committee.

They seconded the motion. He stated several grievances of Catholic sol- ing in the Irish militia, which he thought lly for redress. He particularly alluded, acommon and Fermanagh regiments. In mon, he understood a Catholic was held nt to be appointed to the rank even of a missioned officer. He said he had also been hat the Colonel of the Fermanagh militia suffer an officer to be appointed to his who had not previously proved his loyalty the Oungeman's oath; and that the Ca- vates of that regiment were refused the li- exercising their religious duties. He ap- Counsellor Kernan, as a Fermanagh Gen- us well be the truth of these facts, as for act of the Orange Jury, who, at the of Enniskillen acquitted one of their mbers, notwithstanding it was in pro- oner's own confession, that he had robbed el of Enniskillen of the Priest's vestments, committed any other sacrilegious acts.

Kernan.—Sir, I am not competent to say (be- am ignorant of the fact.) whether the private of the Fermanagh regiment professing the Religion is prevented by the Earl of En- from exercising their religious duties;—I hope the facts otherwise. With respect to assistance of the scandalous outrage commit- the Chapel of Enniskillen, the trial had been ed in all the newspapers of this city; and to rsons as having the Report it is unnecessary to state more than this fact—namely, that at there was sufficient evidence produced on of the Cross to convict the traverser, and verdict of acquittal was therefore not only to evidence but to the charge of Mr. Jus- cher, the led Judge who presided;—It singular in that country, that the Jury who e Officer consisted of Protestants—there be- two instances (I am informed) since the Re- of Catholics serving as Jurors at the assizes Connell's motion was carried unanimously. He inserted the proceedings of the Catholic ee on Saturday last, when Couns. O'Connell "facts reported to him," to which we ve the same implicit credit as the Commit- will be observed that the name of the militia is not mentioned by Counsellor O'Connell appears to that these gentlemen ought in to have silently appointed their Committee to enquire into the truth of the report, be- statement evidently calculated to rouse the of a largertion of our militia force, was a publiceting. The inhabitants of every Ireland witness, that the Roman Catho- lers of each regiment are regularly marched s, and the Protestants to Church, every Sun- and that the former in every respect enjoy the exercise of their religious duties.—Patriot.
